Firm Says Missile Can Snuff Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An electronics firm says it has successfully demonstrated the use of a guided missile to bomb brush fires with borate solution.

A spokesman said the missiles can be mass produced for $300 each and are capable of carrying 1,000 pounds of the chemical to areas too inaccessible or dangerous for manned air tankers to bomb.

(B.C. officials say they are not considering adopting the missiles.)

Oil Domain On the Alert Kuwait Wins Allies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Kuwait sheikdom placed its British-supported army on the alert Tuesday against any invasion from Iraq and won another powerful ally in support of its independence.

The United Arab Republic announced in Cairo its opposition to any Iraqi attempt at annexation of the oil-rich domain at the head of the Persian Gulf.

OTHER SUPPORT

Britain and the U.S. went formally to the support of Kuwait Monday.

President Nasser's U.A.R. pledge is expected to swing most of the nine-nation Arab League to support of independence—and league membership—for Kuwait.

Kuwait called for an emergency session of the Arab League for today to discuss Iraq's threat.

ARMY MOBILIZED

Sheikh Abdullah, ruler of Kuwait, was reported to have declared a state of emergency and mobilized his 3,000-man army, backed by an air force of 12 planes, along the Iraqi frontier.

British troops are still on hand. Plans for their immediate withdrawal after the sheikdom gained full independence last week were cancelled.

Four British frigates are in the Persian Gulf.

Scenic Air Tour Kills Five Fliers

LA PUSH, Wash. (AP)—A civilian plane owned by El Paso Natural Gas Co., carrying five men, crashed in the Pacific Ocean off this Olympic Peninsula town Tuesday and the coast guard recovered three bodies.

Two of the dead were Ned Trimble, a reporter for the Kansas City Star, and Robert Adams of El Paso, Tex.

The other men were believed to be Ed Koterba, a writer for the Scripps-Howard newspapers; pilot John Cornwell and E. G. Hines of a Seattle advertising agency.

The agency had arranged the flight as a scenic tour of Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

A witness said the plane, skimming the coastal waters in clear, sunny weather, struck powerlines near a resort community.

Undersea Shape

Recently released picture shows unusual view of new Polaris missile submarine Thomas A. Edison as it slips down ways of Groton, Conn., after being christened by Edison's 13-year-old daughter, Mrs. John Eyre Edison. Edison carries 16 Polaris missiles, cost $100,000,000.

Ottawa Tax Deal Betrayal—Argue

NANAIMO (UPI)—CCF national leader Hazen Argue said last night the federal government's proposed tax deal with the provinces was "a surrender to the wealthiest provinces and a complete betrayal of the others."

Argue said the federal proposals "represent a backward step in federal-provincial fiscal relations that cannot lead anywhere but to bickering and difficulties."

GOOD POLICY

He defended the former tax rental agreements dating back to the Second World War. "This was a good policy during wartime and it is a good policy during peacetime."

The new proposals, he added, were "a double step backward toward the Canadian tax jungle of the 1930s."

CLOCK SET BACK

"And it might easily promote Canadian disunity by setting province against province, region against region."

The Rowell-Sirois commission recommendations have "now been abandoned by the federal government and the clock of progress set back exactly 20 years," Mr. Argue told a public meeting.

New Attack Congo Fear

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Unification of the Congo was threatened today by reports that troops of leftist leader Antoine Gizenga might start a new offensive into North Katanga.

City Fire Victim Dies in Hospital

A 63-year-old fire victim, Mrs. Ella Pearce, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night of injuries suffered when her bed caught fire at 630 Yates Street June 12.

She lay near death for several days after the fire, but rallied to an improved condition on June 22. The fire was believed to have been caused by a cigarette.

Minister Forecasts Trade with Japan

By PETER BRUTON

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan yesterday predicted B.C.'s mineral exports would be tripled to about $100,000,000 a year within the next three years.

At the same time he announced a number of Japanese business experts will arrive in this province shortly to study the possibilities of Japanese investment in mineral processing plants here and Japanese participation in mineral exploration and development.

Mr. Kiernan has just returned from a three-week tour of Japan during which time he discussed the possibilities of greater trade between Canada and Japan.

The minister appeared confident of increased business prospects.

Mr. Kiernan said B.C. at present exports about $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year in raw ore and mineral concentrates to Japan and that contracts covering $200,000,000 — some ranging back for seven years — are now in force.

"Most new mining operations in this province are predicated on Japanese contracts," he stated. "Other contracts are under negotiation now and these will probably lead to the opening up of new mining operations."

KENNETH KIERNAN

Big Stumbling Block

The main purpose of his visit, he said, was to get to know Japanese businessmen a little better.

Mr. Kiernan found one of the biggest stumbling blocks was the feeling held by the Japanese that Canada discriminated against them as a nation.

He said he impressed upon the businessmen he met that any action on mining legislation taken by B.C. was not discrimination in any sense but simply action to safeguard adequate reserves of raw ore for B.C.'s own use.

Mr. Kiernan also warned that B.C. could not supply raw ore indefinitely.

"I said that as long as our reserves are considered adequate the mining for export of such things as iron and copper would not be restricted," said Mr. Kiernan.

In Vulnerable Position

The minister also added that B.C. was in an extremely vulnerable position if it kept to the role of a shipper only and said that the province wanted to see the development of mineral processing facilities here.

For this reason, said Mr. Kiernan, he proposed these suggestions:

● Japan should put money into the development and exploration of mineral resources in B.C. either by buying into B.C. companies or forming new ones.

This would guarantee Japan a virtually unlimited supply of the ore so badly needed.

● Japan should seriously

consider forming a joint company with B.C. operators to do at least part of the processing of raw ore in this country.

Despite higher labor costs here the cost of power is about half as much as in Japan.

Japanese businessmen agreed to investigate both suggestions immediately and said that as far as the manufacture of sponge iron using natural gas was concerned if it was feasible economically they would probably do so.

"Either we're going to deal with these people on a fair and friendly basis or we are not going to deal with them at all," said Mr. Kiernan.

Blast Sears Plant

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—A worker stumbled and dropped a tank of propane gas at a Dallas ice cream warehouse yesterday, setting off two violent explosions which turned the worker into a human torch, injured four other persons and demolished the plant.

Damage to the Mister Softee Ice Cream Co. building was estimated at more than $80,000.

WALLS BLOWN

The force of the explosions hurled bricks as far as five blocks away. Walls of the two-story warehouse, located in an industrial section just south of downtown Dallas, were blown out and the roof collapsed. Seventeen trucks inside were heavily damaged.

The worker who dropped the propane tank, Willie Franklin, 46, was in extremely critical condition with second and third-degree burns over 90 per cent of his body.

West Pacific Swept By Killer Rainstorm

TOKYO (UPI)—A violent rainstorm moved northward across Japan and the Philippines today, leaving at least 175 persons dead or missing. Police reports listed 52 dead in Japan and 88 missing, with five confirmed dead and 30—all from the fishing boat ML Tiamis—missing in or near Luzon in the Philippines.

12-HOUR DELUGE

Some 350,000 acres of farmland were under water in Japan after a four-day downpour that totalled as much as 40 inches in central Honshu. Floods swept through Luzon, causing heavy destruction as a result of a 12-hour deluge. More rain was forecast for Manila and nearby areas during the next two days.

Tractors 'Alive'

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—The unofficial negotiations between a representative of the defunct American Tractors for Freedom Committee and a 10-man Cuban prisoner delegation remained alive last night after a four-hour conference here.

At the same time it was announced that Cuban exiles were once again training troops in Florida.

Bones of Steel For Fragile Boy

CHICAGO (UPI)—An 18-month-old boy too fragile to hug was reported in "very good condition" yesterday after the first of a series of six operations to strengthen his brittle bones.

Doctors at Shriners' Hospital for crippled children performed the rare operation on Peter Lollar of Little Rock, Ark.

The little boy's bones are so fragile they have been fractured 30 times. They break at a cough, a jolt or even a carous.

To give the boy a chance at a normal life, doctors plan to bolster his frail bones with steel rods. The first of the rods was inserted into his left leg yesterday. Hospital officials said the operation should strengthen Peter's leg and make it less prone to fracture. It is hoped that future operations will enable him to lead a more normal life. Doctors said the six operations Peter will undergo would be the first of many. As he grows, the rods in his limbs will have to be replaced with longer ones.

Dog's Bark Costs $6 But Bites Add $1,400

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Her dog's bark cost singer Kitty Kaye $1,400.

Miss Kaye was fined $6 for letting her dog run loose after he barked at a dogcatcher.

While Miss Kaye was in the courtroom, she left her new mink stole and the poodle in the car outside. When she returned, the dog had chewed her $1,400 mink to shreds.

B.C. Fish Pact Illegal Says Liberal Senator

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Senator Arthur Roebuck said Tuesday an agreement between union and processors of two union and processors of the British Columbia fishing industry limits the herring fishery to "a privileged few."

"It is my opinion that an agreement that has a term of that kind in it is illegal," the Ontario senator said. "It is not in the public interest and

Hungry Chinese Kill 500 Reds

HONG KONG (UPI)—About 500 Chinese Communists have been killed by angry, hunger-stricken people in Red China's southern city of Canton since June 1, a newspaper specializing in China affairs reported yesterday.

The Chinese language Truth Daily, quoting people returning from Canton, said the Communists have recently imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew in the city to prevent further deaths. "Presently," the paper said,

"the whole of Canton is like a death city after dark."

The paper said one of the murdered Communists was a soldier. He was "killed when an unidentified person threw a big stone at his head while he was patrolling with a Tommy gun early in the morning of June 18. The killer was still at large," the paper said.

Another victim was a policeman who was found hanging on a big tree early this month, according to the paper.

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle Tuesday ordered a French division on duty in Algeria to return to France.

NO TIME GIVEN
The president told members of Parliament at an Elysee Palace reception that he had issued orders for the return of one division.

BERLIN LINK?
He gave no explanation for the move. But it was immediately linked in the minds of observers with the possibility of a crisis over Berlin with the Soviet Union.

Macmillan told a cheering House of Commons:

"We and our allies have certain obligations in Germany and we do not intend to abandon them. Among them is the preservation of the freedom of the people of West Berlin."

COMPLAINT REJECTED

"The Soviet government must come to realize that we intend to defend this, and we cannot countenance proposals inconsistent with it."

In another move, Britain flatly rejected a Soviet complaint against granting military facilities for German troops in Britain.

'NOT A BASE'

In a note delivered to the Soviet Embassy, the British government said West Germany had not requested a military base in Britain, but only storage and training facilities "exclusively intended to strengthen the defensive capacity of NATO as a whole."

Macmillan rose in the Commons to refute speculation that Britain was dragging its feet on the Berlin problem.

He said he would like to resume talks with Russia on German problems but stipulated: "They must be negotiations and not asking us to submit to blackmail."

LONDON (Reuters)—The "Outer Seven" free trade association opened meetings here Tuesday while at the same time Britain began ministerial missions to sample Commonwealth reaction to its possible link with the European Common Market.

Members of the seven-nation European Free Trade Association were reported to be divided on what to do about Britain's tentative step towards the six-nation Common Market.

Harriman, head of the U.S. delegation at the talks, said he hoped to meet today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

In Vientiane, Laotian government officials say they fear Communist China is striving for East-West partition of Laos to open a line of attack into Southeast Asia's rice bowl.

The officials say privately the Red Chinese—regardless of what they say at the conference in Geneva—want an open road pointing at South Viet Nam, Thailand and Cambodia.

Himmler to Blame
Claims Eichmann

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Adolf Eichmann said Tuesday he encouraged Jewish emigration to Palestine until Nazi Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler stepped in and banned the move.

Himmler had blocked attempts by Jews to get to Palestine, Eichmann said, because of a pledge to the anti-Jewish mufti of Jerusalem.

Thirty of the 100 children from the martyred Czechoslovak village of Lidice, whom Eichmann is charged with killing in 1942, were seen alive in Poland in 1945, the court trying Eichmann for mass murder was told.

The court accepted an affidavit from Mrs. Elisa Freilberg, of West Germany, who said she saw the children at a convent in Pushkovo, in Poland, up to the time the Red Army occupied the area.

Murder Rehearsal

TUJUNGA, Calif. (UPI)—A husky teenager, arrested yesterday for trying to push a housewife into a large clothes dryer at a serve-yourself laundry, told officers he was experimenting with a way to kill his younger brother.

The sullen 16-year-old was caught by police as he fled from the laundry after having tried to shove Mrs. Shirley Dilley, 29, Sunland, Calif., into the dryer.

He told Sgt. W. R. Danheiser that he was looking for a way to get rid of his 15-year-old brother whom he envied for his good looks.

The teen-ager, who was not identified, told the sergeant that he slipped up behind Mrs. Dilley as she finished taking clothes from the dryer. He said he just happened to notice her alone in the all-night laundry in this Los Angeles suburb.

Moment of Truth?

THE RESOLUTION passed by the Ontario Young Liberals Association calling for a merger between the Liberal Party and the New Party has caused great embarrassment to the Grits. It also underlines the major dilemma faced by their national party.

To be sure this action by the younger set may be laughed off by older but not necessarily wiser party members, already issuing explanations and interpretations at such a rate that no doubt can be left in anybody's mind that the majority of them have no intention of seeing this as a moment of truth.

What, then, is the truth? What is this major problem so clearly revealed by the offending resolution? It is simply this: the younger Liberals have been quick to recognize that the much heralded re-vitalized Liberal Party has lost its place in the line-up of national political parties.

This has been brought about by many things, not the least being the broadening of the Conservative front to such a degree that it can no longer be considered solely as a party of the right. Rather, in its efforts to be a party fully representative of all Canadian society, it has widened its scope so greatly that it now stands shoulder to shoulder with the CCF party on its left.

The vacuum created by the departure of the Liberal Party from office and its resultant organizational collapse was thus rapidly filled by the Tories and the CCFers edging slightly left and slightly right respectively.

The result is that the traditional middle-of-the-line niche held for so long, in principle at least, by the Liberals no longer exists. Now, if they want to have a definite identity they have to choose between going to the right of the Tories or to the left of the New Party.

And therein lies their headache. They cannot go to the right of the Conservative Party. That place is already reserved by the Social Crediters, and they cannot be sure how far left the New Party is heading. This latter orientation remains for the CLC-CCF alliance to decide at its first national convention next month.

It has always been said, with some justification, that the Liberals—for all their long years in office—suffer from a permanent guilt-complex regarding the CCF Party, caused by the fact that it never would have been formed in the first place had not the Liberals deserted their original role of being the party of the little man.

It may be that the Ontario Young Liberals can see their party's future a little clearer than their elders and have resolved to put it back into its traditional, though long forgotten, place in the political pattern of the country. To add to their problem, it is a place already occupied.

Nevertheless it is a start toward realism and these youngsters may yet be able to teach their grandfathers to suck eggs.

Victim of Science

ONE OF THE VICTIMS of a changing world is the James Island explosives plant of Canadian Industries Ltd. In the past six years science has found new and easier methods of making the types of blasting powders that since 1914 have been the mainstay of the CIL operation there.

Because of this, CIL is being forced to close down its nitro-glycerine plant, and although it will continue to make various specialty blasting agents required for the B.C. market there will be lay-offs for many people who have for years worked on the Island. Soon, too, the model community owned by CIL on the Island will become a ghost town.

Apart from the loss of jobs for the district, the closing of the nitro-glycerine plant will be regretted because of its historic associations. Opened in 1914 when the Hamilton Powder Company moved from Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, it was run originally by Canadian Explosive Ltd. (CXL), and during the First World War turned out many tons of explosives for the British, Canadian and later the U.S. governments.

During all those 47 years that the highly dangerous nitro-glycerine has been handled on James Island there has never been an accident in the plant. It is the proud boast of the company that in nearly half a century not a single man hour has been lost as a result of an accident of any kind.

Many of the people who have worked on James Island have been closely identified with the social and business life of the Victoria area, and some of them will be moved to other parts of the CIL empire. This will be Victoria's loss.

CIL intends to keep the James Island operation going in a streamlined form, but for how long no one knows. What is the future for the Island? Well, it is a magnificent piece of real estate, but because of its insularity its industrial possibilities are limited.

The 'Amateur' Farce

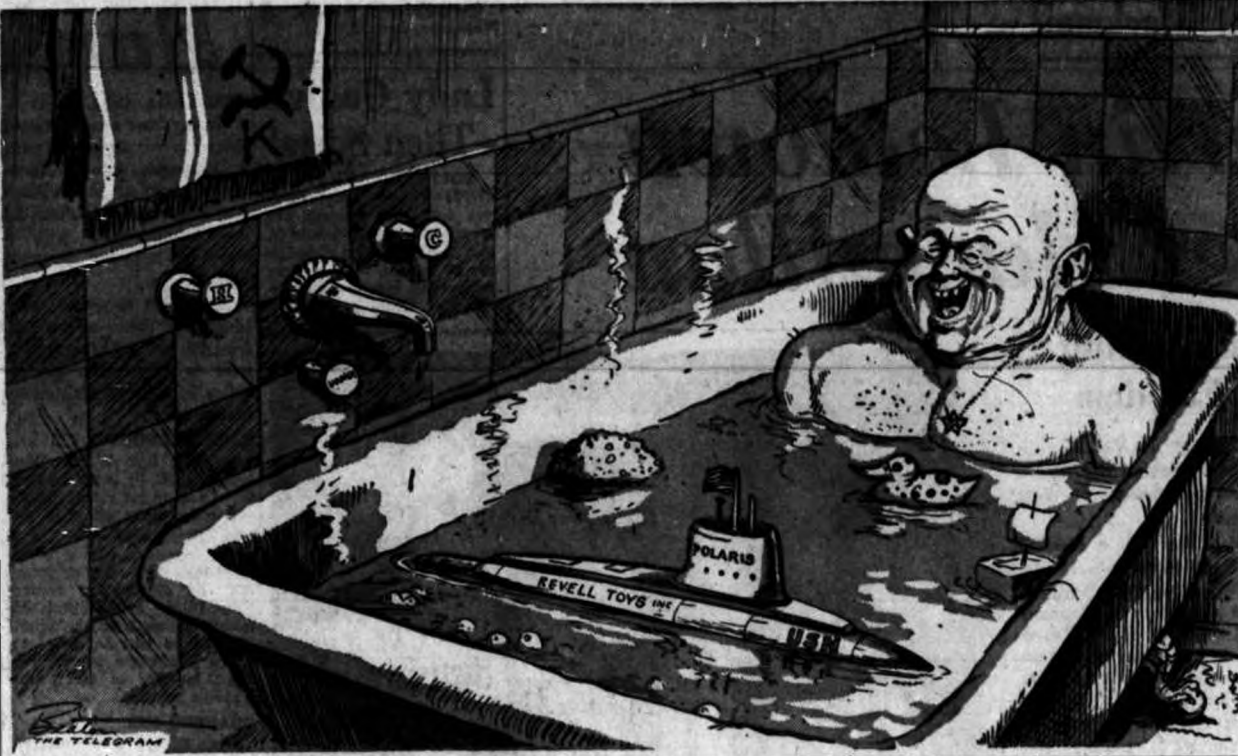

TINKERING FURTHER with the so-called "amateur" code the International Olympic Committee has defined an amateur as one who never has received payment for taking part in sport. This has disturbed Canadian hockey officials, for the ruling could eliminate Canada from Olympic participation in this realm.

Canadian Olympic teams are not amateur in the pure sense, if in fact Olympic competition of any kind ever really was. Even in the ancient Athenian games this is doubtful, for honors were showered on the victors and some of these may have had monetary value.

The days are over when a special class of athletes could afford Olympic competition, thus restricting Olympiads to the rich or comfortably well off. It could be argued indeed that these entrants were professional in that sport was for them a vocation and not a sideline. Nowadays society is so constructed few if any athletes can take part in Olympics without financial aid of some kind.

The result has been to make "amateurism" a cover for various means of subsidization. All kinds of dodges are indulged in to make athletes appear amateur, either through expense monies or by state support. Some countries underwrite their Olympic teams, but for ideological as well as sport reasons a blind eye is turned on them.

The original concept of Olympic competition was to encourage fair play and honest endeavor, but this is defeated by the subterfuges adopted in order to comply with outmoded rules. It is high time the Olympics were thrown open to all comers. Only then will they be freed of the falsity that at present beclouds Olympic status.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships,
and sealing wax ...

By TOM TAYLOR

BROWSING in a journal about books, I came on a capsule review of a novel called "The Cigarette," apparently of French origin. It would not be as the video ad would suggest, a thinking man's cigarette.

This suggestion, you know, is quite insulting. I mean if you are a smoker you'd never concede you weren't a thinker or that your favorite brand was not the best. And if your choice is not the television cigarette I doubt you are persuaded by the implication.

But then television ads are among the queerest things extant.

However this piece is neither about television nor cigarettes, although it is a cigarette that sparks it. The novel in question deals with the reaction of a man who leaves home in the morning sans money or tobacco.

He has some money in prospect so that's not a problem. He could easily procure a cigarette also, presumably, but his dependence on the wood irritates him. He determines not to borrow a cigarette and the nervous tension generated by lack of a smoke causes him to take stock of himself.

And his insight increases in proportion to his urge for a cigarette.

Never having tried, seriously, to stop smoking, this writer cannot affirm whether one's senses are sharpened or dulled by longing for a cigarette. This does not matter, however. What is of concern at the moment is the ability of any man really to see himself, with or without a cigarette.

Some rare souls may be able to do so. But it must be next door to impossible, except in a superficial way.

To begin with the odds are all against any clarity of analysis. Every person is a compound of prejudices and built-in ideas, the result of long experience. And these are not easily disentangled.

A man, for instance—let's say perhaps to leave that mysterious being, woman, out of the argument—doesn't see himself as others do. It might do him good if he could, but he has a personal aura that clouds his vision when he attempts to look at himself.

Even when he looks in a mirror the physical person he sees is not as others see him. If only because his eyes are part of himself and cannot be impartial.

It is this blind spot that makes a man condemn in others what he himself does, or might do. It's not necessarily hypocrisy, either; because his actions are frequently a matter of feeling, not rational thought, and feelings cannot always be explained.

True it is one can cast an eye back and see where a mistake was made or where some other course should have been taken, but the retrospect is softened by the instinctive gloss one puts on oneself.

It's simply not in nature to analyze oneself correctly, for the analysis would have to take account of intangibles: mood, impulse, feeling—above all, feeling. And a subconscious bent to excuse oneself. What one does somehow appears different from what others do.

Or so it seems to yours truly. How often have you asked yourself why you did a certain thing—and couldn't answer? That gives you an idea of what a man is up against in trying to see himself as he really is.

It may be of course that desperate longing for a cigarette makes a man fey, or drops the scales from his eyes.

But even then would he be seeing the real thing?

Dream Revived

THE Prairie province of Saskatchewan needs a tidewater port—an outlet to the shipping lanes of the Atlantic Ocean. Through the port could flow the rich raw materials of western Canada's northland to the resource-hungry industrial centres of Europe. This is the dream of the Rt. Hon. James Gardiner, former federal minister of agriculture, who now lives on his neat, well-run farm at Lemberg, Saskatchewan.

Thirty years ago, when "Jimmy" Gardiner was premier, he asked Ottawa to cede to Saskatchewan the territories that lie to the north of the province. He had his eye on the natural resources of this mineralized region, which would then be the province's to develop. If his request had been granted, plans would be well along today to build Chesterfield Inlet—a natural harbor and a waterways system on the western coast of Hudson Bay—into a bustling Saskatchewan port funneling ores, timber, furs and other materials to overseas factories.

Since the first shipment of Prairie grain went through Churchill in 1931, the route to the ocean through Hudson Bay and Straits has been gaining favor in western Canada as a practical and economic trade path to British and European grain markets. This year more than 19,500,000 bushels of wheat went to export market through the Bay.

A Port for Saskatchewan

By CHARLES BELL, Telegram News Service

Manitoba's Premier John Bracken said at the time that his province would oppose any grant of land lying north of his province to Saskatchewan. Today, Mr. Gardiner would meet Manitoba's objections by amending his plan so that the eastern boundary of the annexed territory would run in a southwesterly direction along the eastern banks of the Chesterfield Inlet drainage system which almost touches Saskatchewan's northern border. This would give the neighboring province a sizable chunk of real estate if it too decided to expand to the north.

Representatives of a British concern have visited Churchill to study the possibilities of using nuclear-powered submarines to carry bulk cargoes under the ice to the open Atlantic. In the light of recent transpolar, undersea voyages by American navy submarines, shipment of raw materials in submerged cargo carriers may not be too far distant. As for ice-locked lakes and harbors, experiments with compressed air bubbles from bottom-laid hoses have already been conducted in northern waters and some success has been noted in the battle with ice.

The future development of portable nuclear power plants could aid in the mining and processing of the ores that lie in the vast Pre-Cambrian lands near the proposed port. According to survey reports the region contains deposits of iron, copper, lead, zinc, cobalt, silver, nickel, gold and coal.

Mr. Gardiner envisages a future railway that would extend as far west as the Peace River country as an addition to the network of navigable waterways—a railway that would carry the ores to water. Aside from these domestic arguments for extending northward Saskatchewan's boundaries, Mr. Gardiner says that the proposal has an international aspect. At fruition, it would place practically on Britain's doorstep much needed raw materials for U.K. factories. The flow of timber and ores to Britain over a shorter, cheaper trade route would do much to preserve British ties with Canada at a time when rival economic blocs are in the ascendant and traditional trade patterns are shifting.

Soap-Box Orators

It is a pleasure to note that the council has agreed to re-locate "Hyde Park Corner" in its former place. One hears remarks pro and con re Mr. Scott but sad to say very few seem to realize that it is through such men as he almost all improvements in living conditions of the working classes have come about.

People who want to change things should be encouraged to get their complaint off their chest by relating it to their fellowmen in public, they in turn giving their opinion. Those on both sides of a question would probably learn something during the process.

Were it not for the great disability of deafness I would be quite active at the corner and I suggest that the citizens of Victoria show their appreciation of the council's action in allowing free speech in a soap-box. Do not lose this opportunity. It is your most valuable possession.

The article by P. C. Conrad, president of the firm of bakers, saying the price of bread going up is inevitable—the government should control the bakers throughout Canada and make it clear to them there will be no increase of bread, which is unnecessary—the almighty dollar once more appearing.

Snow at Vimy?

I do not know whether your editorial on the weather that prevailed during the attack on Vimy Ridge, invited correspondence; assuming that it did, although I have no official records to back up my statements, I will give you my recollection for what it is worth.

Snow did not fall on April 9; though the dawn was overcast, it cleared during the day and I distinctly recall — one of our officers stretched out asleep on the parapet in the warm sunshine that afternoon. Snow came however on the day or rather the evening of the day following, i.e. the night of April 10-11. I spent some hours that night wandering around the battlefield looking for headquarters in a blinding snowstorm that by daybreak had covered the ridge under two or three inches of snow.

I might mention that success was not complete on April 9 for the "Purple," as many will recall, still held out and did not fall till the day following.

HAROLD WINCH
Incompetence cited

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF member Harold Winch attacked Finance Minister Fleming's 1961-62 budgetary deficit Tuesday as only an immediate solution "to get the government off the hook."

"Our children and our children's children will pay for the incompetence of this government," the 54-year-old grandfather told the Commons in the budget debate.

WITH INTEREST

They will have to pay back the Conservative government's debts with interest, he said.

The MP for Vancouver East said there are times when a deficit is needed. But the Conservative government had budgeted for four deficits, he charged, and the latest—$850,000,000—had come "without national planning."

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Hiding Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, many of over 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthesia or irritating agents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Army Joins War on Fires

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 50-man army contingent left here Tuesday to help beleaguered firefighters battle a giant blaze in the Whiteshell forest reserve.

The troops are reinforcements for 90 civilians already battling the blaze which has consumed 25,000 acres so far.

The army said another 100 troops have been placed on a stand-by basis in the event they should be needed.

MANITOBA REQUEST

The troops were supplied from Camp Shilo near Brandon at the request of the Manitoba government.

The Whiteshell blaze has been raging for two weeks, breaking out time and again when firefighters seemed to be gaining the upper hand.

The self-sufficient army unit, outfitted with firefighting and camping gear, is under the command of Maj.

Douglas Penne of Kingston, Ont.

The fire they will fight has spread across the border into northwestern Ontario, where it is reported out of control.

The Whiteshell blaze was one of 40 reported in Manitoba Tuesday and three were out of control in the timber-dry forests.

Forestry officials describe the conditions as the worst in living memory. Twenty-five of the fires are in areas so remote nobody is even trying to fight them.

VACATION AREA

Additional travel restrictions were placed on the Whiteshell area and Premier Roblin warned the vacation area might have to be closed to all travel shortly if conditions worsen.

Meanwhile, nine new fires during the last 24 hours boosted the total to 42 burning in Ontario. Of the 13 not under control, 12 were located in the Sioux Lookout district in northwestern Ontario.

100,000 ACRES

Total area burned during the last nine days in northwestern Ontario is more than 100,000 acres.

A water bomber landing to reload on a lake near Kenora flipped over and sank Monday, but the pilot escaped injury.

In B.C., weekend thunderstorms started new fires and put out old ones in the Prince George forest district.

STILL BURNING

Twenty-four new fires were started and 33 others were extinguished, leaving 33 still burning. The fire hazard dropped to low to moderate from high.

More than 100 men were let off the firelines in the Kamloops forest district, although there still were 89 fires burning. There still were 330 men on the lines but all fires were under control.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Newfoundland government Tuesday ordered a magistrate's inquiry into three disastrous forest fires believed to be the work of arsonists.

In another development, the government called for an armada of water-bombing planes from Quebec to douse Gambo area fires threatening 2,000 persons in 10 villages. However, forecast for the area was steady rain showers.

Officials said names of arson suspects in Gander Lake, Trinity and Hare Bay fires last week had been given to RCMP and arrests are expected shortly. The Mounties also are investigating destruction of firefighting equipment in those areas.

Liberal, CCF Youth Care Not for Alliance

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the British Columbia Young Liberal Association said Tuesday the association is completely opposed to any alliance or proposed alliance with the New Party.

President Mike Jeffrey was commenting on a report that Ontario Young Liberals backed a proposed alliance with the New Party.

B.C. Liberal leader Ray Berrault commented he is amenable to the idea, providing the New Party joins the Liberal Party.

"I imagine I'll be meeting them (the Ontario Young Liberals) and I'll have something to say to them then."

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the National Young CCF Party said Tuesday night his organization has no interest in an alliance with the Liberal party suggested by Ontario Young Liberals.

National secretary Bill Picket said he doubted the Liberals are really interested in such an alliance either.

"Their natural ally is the other conservative party," he said. "Premier Frost of Ontario has already stated that both conservative parties will have to form an alliance with the next few years in order to keep the New Party out of office."

WINNIPEG — A Winnipeg engineer, for the second time in 15 years, saved a child from in front of a moving locomotive. A second child playing on the tracks was hit and seriously injured.

CPR engineer James McLellan left the cab of his engine after throwing the brake and from the foot board in front grabbed Lawrence Murray, 2, and threw him to the side of the road.

"I couldn't reach the other one," he said. Douglas Paulsen, also 2, lost his right leg when hit by the train.

That Name Censored In House

OTTAWA (CP) — The James E. Coyne dispute has rid the Commons of a cliché. For fear of making a distasteful play on the central banker's name, MPs in the budget debate have stopped themselves each time they started to say "the other side of the coin."

Harold Winch (OCF—Vancouver East) caught himself in time Tuesday to mention "the other side of the balance." Later, Theogene Ricard (PC—St. Hyacinthe-Bagot) used the phrase "the other side of the medal."

Uranium

Crown Firm Attacked

OTTAWA (CP)—A thorough study should be initiated by the government to determine if Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd. should continue to compete with private producers in the mining of uranium, the Commons research committee proposed Tuesday.

This was the main recommendation in the research committee's fourth report.

SUBSIDIARY
It followed 20 meetings to study policy, operations and expenditures of Eldorado.

The committee charged Northern Transportation Company Ltd., a subsidiary of Eldorado, took advantage of its status to obtain a preferred position in transportation in the western Arctic and Mackenzie River basin.

It recommended "an impartial and independent study . . . of all present transportation facilities and future needs on the Mackenzie River system and related areas."

It also accused private mining companies of failing in their duty to provide funds for research to find new uses for uranium.

SALES AGENT
The committee said it "recommends that in view of the functions of Eldorado as the government's purchasing and sales agent for uranium and as contract allocating body, a thorough study of its involvement in the competitive mining field should be made."

The committee approved a decision of Eldorado to retire from active exploration for uranium and other metals.

The report said another study is being made by the air transport board of an offer by Pacific Western Air Lines to buy the subsidiary, Eldorado Aviation Ltd.

In view of this the committee rejected a detailed examination of the company.

Anger Greet Identical Bids

EDMONTON (CP)—City council has rejected four identical bids from Canadian electrical companies, to supply $31,425 worth of meters. Council decided Monday night to investigate other sources — possibly Japan and Germany.

Ald. McKim Ross denounced the four Canadian companies for their "display of arrogance and contempt of what people think" resulting from weak federal combines legislation.

Six-Figure Gamblers Convicted

MONTREAL (CP) — Four Chinese, three of them over 60, Tuesday were given fines and jail sentences for operating what police called "the largest gambling establishment of its kind ever uncovered in Montreal."

Hum Lei, 70, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to 30 days, and Wang Leng, 61, Mark Chee, 69, and Woo Chung, 26, were each fined $300 and sentenced to 15 days, by Judge Henri Monty of Municipal Court.

A fifth Chinese was found not guilty.

A member of the police morality squad which raided the establishment, called the Victoria Sporting Club, Feb. 24, said the annual "take" at the club would run "into six figures, or even higher."

Accounts seized in the raid showed the take for one of five gambling tables was $11,361 for one week alone, police said.

This family is the victim of hot weather stalling—one of the infuriating troubles that can strike your car on sizzling days. Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend fights three of them.

HAPPY JULY 1st?

Fight hot weather sluggishness with Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. Famous 9-ingredient formula now adjusted for top performance when temperatures soar Summer Heat can make gasoline bubble. In extreme cases this can stall you dead. It can also cause hard starting and rough idling.

Read how Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend fights these summer problems. It just might save you a lot of trouble this weekend. You can get it at any Shell station on your route.

ENGINES, like people, can suffer from heat prostration. Especially in the kind of hot and heavy traffic you may face during the weekend ahead.

Here are some infuriating troubles that are caused by excessive heat—and what Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend does to fight them.

1. How Super Shell fights hot weather stalls

If your engine loses power, or in extreme cases sputters and dies on a hot day, it may have an ailment called vapour lock.

Vapour lock strikes when heat and altitude makes a volatile gasoline start to boil right in the fuel line. This produces bubbles that can choke off the fuel supply.

Shell scientists attach vapour lock by removing Super Shell's 9-ingredient formula in summer. This reduces its volatility.

This is a hot weather blend of Super Shell that's not likely to boil in your fuel line—it cuts the chances of hot weather power-loss to a minimum even on a hot day in the mountains.

2. How Super Shell fights hard starting

Here's what can happen when you try to restart your car after a hot drive. With the fan stopped and the cooling system idle, intense heat under the hood can actually make gasoline percolate in your carburetor. Just like coffee in a pot.

The gasoline spills over, floods your engine—and makes starting difficult.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend is formulated to stand high temperatures without percolating. You can get quick starts even after a long, hard, hot drive.

3. How Super Shell fights rough idling

The same trouble that causes summer starting difficulties can give your car the shakes every time you stop for traffic lights.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend attacks both problems the same way. Its formula is adjusted so that it's in no hurry to boil and bubble. Result: smooth idling in hot weather.

4. Some engine problems Super Shell can't solve

Super Shell fights hot weather stalling but it cannot correct mechanical defects in your engine. Your Shell dealer can. Here are a few things that cause overheating in your engine, and how your Shell man can help:

1. A plugged radiator stops the free flow of cooling air. Have your Shell dealer clean out bugs and dirt, install a bug screen.

2. A slipping fan belt doesn't move the fan fast enough. Have your Shell dealer check your fan belt, install a new one if yours is cracked, slack.

3. A faulty fuel pump can aggravate vapour lock. Your Shell dealer can check fuel line pressure in a few moments.

Keep Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend in your tank. You'll really be set for top performance.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP* for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for extra power.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is heavy alkanes to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is mixed pentanes for fast warm-ups.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." (Added in cold weather).
- #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

No Interference Doukhobor Vow

NELSON (CP)—Leaders of the Doukhobors have vowed not to interfere with the purchase of land from the government by any of their followers. Magistrate William Evans said yesterday.

He also announced the government has appointed him as its agent to carry out the recommendations of the Lord report as he sees fit.

Mr. Justice A. E. Lord of the B.C. supreme court compiled a five instalment report on the Doukhobor land problem between 1953 and 1959. He recommended that the Doukhobors be given the opportunity of purchasing land they occupy at reasonable rates.

Many of the Doukhobors have not paid rent or taxes on the land since it was foreclosed by mortgage companies in the depression and later purchased by the provincial government.

NO TIME LIMIT

Magistrate Evans, who said he received his appointment during the recent B.C. magistrates' convention at Penticton, said he will set no time limit on purchase of the land by the Doukhobors, as recommended in the Lord report.

The magistrate is regarded as one of the foremost authorities on Doukhobor matters.

Flag Fliers Come Out Into Open

OTTAWA (UPI)—A spokesman for the Revolutionary Movement of Canada said Tuesday the clandestine flag-raisers have applied for a federal charter so they can discard their anonymity and seek more conventional means for publicizing demands for a distinctive flag.

The spokesman said the student group would hire a public relations man once incorporated instead of raising its version of a Canadian flag at night.

They have hit seven times during the past few months.

Ripping Leap at Grapes Panics Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Uninhibited goings on at an early-morning wine party had officials of the 11th Berlin Film Festival in a tizzy Tuesday.

Tabloids gleefully proclaimed the "film festival scandal" and related juicy details on what made the hotel owner turn out the lights.

What caused the panic was a dress-splitting leap by Laya Raki, a toothsome German-born Eurasian beauty.

Bosomy Jayne Mansfield was carried around by husband Mickey Hargitay at arms length over his head.

Urged on by photographers, Miss Raki mounted a chair and sprang for a bunch of grapes dangling from the ceiling.

The zipper down the back of her dress flew open and much lively debate ensued as to how much of Laya had met the public gaze.

Hotel owner Wolfgang Gerhaus switched off the floodlights and told her to go.

Festival director Albert Bauer said "this isn't a bosom festival and such nudity ambitions should be ruled out."

Miss Raki contended her mishap was an accident, and her husband, Australian actor Ron Randall, said:

"If the organizers don't want well-developed girls at the festival they shouldn't invite them. We all know what Jayne Mansfield is famous for and she is an official guest."

VANCOUVER — Giuseppe Bernardi, 31, charged with attempted murder, was fined $100 on a reduced charge of assault. He was charged after a shotgun was fired in his wife's direction during a family quarrel.

'Britain Unable to Do Anything' So Canada Helped Lake Ships

OTTAWA (UPI)—The government decided to reserve Great Lakes traffic for Canadian shipping after Britain said it could do nothing to halt the use of Commonwealth registry in this country's inland waters, Transport Minister Balcer said Tuesday.

He made the statement in the Commons when questioned on reports that Britain was not consulted on Canadian plans.

Balcer said the government had approached Britain several times but "they were unable to do anything about it, so we decided to take action of our own."

Hitting Big in Time for Holidays

King Fisherman Contest

The fish are here at last, which is good news for those who look forward to summer holidays as soon as school ends this week.

The coho are hitting in the Cape Mudge waters off Campbell River and the occasional big spring is also coming from those waters.

REAL START

All up and down the Island there are reports of fish, as resort owners brace themselves for the real start Saturday of the vacation rush.

Victoria waters from Goldstream to Sooke also are reporting good catches with Saanich Inlet at its best this year, and Oak Bay to Sooke waters at last giving up a fair number of good springs.

THE KEYNOTE

Optimism has become the keynote at fishing camps... and the fish are being brought in to justify it.

Air Watchdog Patrol Guards Gulf Boaters

An aerial watchdog for Gulf of Georgia pleasure boatmen is being provided courtesy of the RCAF Reserve.

A new search and rescue training scheme for the two flying squadrons of 19 Wing, RCAF Reserve, Vancouver, got a thorough workout over the weekend, with patrolling Otter aircraft answering a number of possible distress calls from pleasure boats.

The new "Marine Patrol" is being conducted by 442 (City of Vancouver) and 443 (City of New Westminster) Squadrons, based at Sea Island.

The aircraft make low-level reconnaissance flights over Gulf of Georgia each Sunday afternoon or on the final day in a holiday weekend.

Their job is to watch for small pleasure craft that are apparently in distress. The patrol pilot reports directly to the Rescue Co-ordination Centre and includes in his report general weather and sea conditions and concentration areas of marine craft.

The patrol extends from Sea Island to Active Pass, north to Gabriola Island; east to Bowen Island and back to Vancouver.

Vanier Hails 'Happy Breed'

16 Daily Colonist, Victoria, Wednesday, June 28, 1961

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP) — Governor General Vanier crossed the Arctic Circle Monday to visit an area where three races of people are making their future together.

The vice-regal party was to spend two days in Inuvik — about 1,000 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

for Mackenzie Delta, welcomed their excellencies on the steps of the Inuvik Federal School. Below them were gathered many of the 50 children who attend the school. Some wore kulutuks and parkas for the 40-degree weather.

Mr. Lang said Eskimos, Indians and whites all are living peacefully together in Inuvik, "an enviable situation."

Crowd Sees Man Fall To Death

OTTAWA (UPI) — Scores of persons watched in horror last night as an unidentified man fell six stories to his death on the capital's Sparks Street shopping mall.

The man, between 40 and 45 years old, hit the sidewalk beside one of the mall's open air restaurants during the downtown rush-hour.

The man, believed to be an elevator operator in the building, brought down telephone wires in his fall.

The crowd included a group of U.R. Girl Scouts.

Vancouver Fire Injures Two

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two persons were in hospital with serious burns suffered in a three-alarm fire that extensively damaged one of the city's oldest roominghouses. Two others were released after treatment.

In hospital were Robert Hunt, 36, and Marjorie Worthington.

HAPPY NAME

"The word Inuvik comes from the Eskimo and means place of man. What a happy name. For this is a town created from the wilderness by human foresight and skill."

The vice-regal party flew here from Norman Wells, N.W.T.

Only Four Beaches on Blacklist

Health inspectors have looked at the bugs under microscopes and given their stamp of approval on swimming at all but four beaches in the Greater Victoria area.

Closed to swimmers again this year because of high bacterial counts are three beaches in Oak Bay and one in the city. They are Twin Beaches on the east side of Shoal Bay,

Victoria Golf Links from the foot of Newport, the mouth of Bowker Creek and the Clover Point area from Howe Street to St. Charles. Gorge Park pool, being tested twice a month, has a low bacterial count and all nearby lakes and ocean beaches were reported as satisfactory. Most of the public swimming places will be tested regularly through the month of September.

Too Expensive

Hospital Plan Out For Old Men's Home

Tentative moves to have Victoria's Mountain View Home converted for use as a private hospital have been dropped and the home for aged men will continue in its present capacity, even though it is losing money.

City council's health committee decided yesterday to call immediately for tenders to rewire the old building. A sum of $5,000 was included in this year's budget to cover the cost.

IMPRACTICAL
Decision not to continue further with the idea of turning the home into a private hospital was made when city welfare officer William Hoosen reported conversion would be impractical.

Mr. Hoosen said requirements for private hospitals in the old building would include construction of a reinforced concrete floor for the second story.

NOTHING ELSE

"I think the building will have to continue in its present purpose," he told the committee. "I don't think it can be converted to anything else."

He had been instructed to investigate possibility of conversion after he told the committee May 29 there was a shortage of private hospital beds in the city.

NOT AS SERIOUS

"There are two companies interested in building private hospitals here," he told the committee yesterday. "and now it doesn't look as serious as it did six weeks ago."

But, he continued, for the home to "break even" it must be run at full capacity, with 38 to 40 inmates. At present there are only 28 persons living in the home.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Ald. A. W. Toone, a member of the health committee, said the committee had no alternative but to continue the operation.

"It is council policy... and until we get another word there is nothing else we can do," he said. "This thing was thrashed out very thoroughly at budget time and the money was allotted. I feel it was allotted to be spent during this year."

Crab Trap Incident

Fishermen's Antics Irk Ferry Skipper

Two unidentified fishermen nearly lost their lives yesterday when they chugged into the path of the ferry Mv Coho in the Inner Harbor and proceeded to pull up their crab trap.

The big ferry almost sliced into the small green boat about 1:30 p.m. off fishermen's wharf in the Inner Harbor.

POOLED LINE
Horrorful skipper of the Coho, Capt. Don Aldow, watched from the bridge as the unidentified pair fouled a busy line on the prop of their boat and disappeared from view under the ferry's bow railing. His relief at seeing the boat still afloat, when it bobbed into view again in the Coho's wake, quickly turned to anger.

MADE PROTEST
After the Coho tied up at the Black Ball ferry dock, the skipper lodged a formal complaint with Capt. G. R. Newell, harbormaster.

"It's illegal to set traps in shipping lanes," Capt. Newell said last night. He said a "close surveillance" will be kept on the harbor.

DEAR NEAT AND GENTLE PEOPLE: Man with a host of deer-hunting stories is Harry Alberry who lives a few miles north of Courtenay.

The one he likes best is about a friend who stalked a fine stag and raised his rifle to fire.

Suddenly he got "buck fever"—in other words the shakes. Try as he could he couldn't keep the rifle's sights on the magnificent beast.

The way he told the story to Harry:

"There I was, shaking like a leaf. So I put the rifle down until I got over the buck fever. Then I raised the rifle again—and darned if the rifle didn't have it."

SAY CAN YOU SEE? For years we have been led to believe it was Field Marshal Montgomery and his Eighth Army desert rats who stopped Bonaparte at El Alamein, writes a navy reader.

No such thing. An American magazine has published what it terms a "true story" crediting a lone American with doing the trick.

"Why worry about Russia, Red China or Lower Slobbovia when we know America can send one man into each country and that'll be that?" he asks.

Quite right. I recall a movie once in which the late Errol Flynn liberated Burma from the Japanese single-handed.

City May Vote Oct. 21 On Big School Issue

Greater Victoria school board has set Oct. 21 as tentative voting date for the proposed multi-million-dollar school building bylaw. Board chairman W. C. Gelling said much planning remains to be done but the program "is beginning to shape up well."

Big Run Coming

Drivers with 155 Company, RCASC, check their vehicles at Bay Street Armory for the big run to Vernon Saturday. More than 500 Vancouver Island militiamen will take part in summer training exercises involving the militia's role in Canada's survival against nuclear attack. —(Colonist photo.)

Militia Units Ready to Go

Some 500 Vancouver Island militiamen will leave Victoria at the weekend to join a force of 2,000 converging on Vernon for summer training.

More than 300 of the Island contingent will be from Victoria.

This year's Camp Vernon training population will be larger by 300 than the postwar record concentration of 1,300 in 1960.

CWAC MEMBERS
The total will include 160 members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps — 40 from the Island.

More than 40 regiments, units and detachments, representing two dozen B.C. communities, will carry out a four-phase training program emphasizing the national survival role of the militia in Canada.

RECONNAISSANCE

This will include reconnaissance of damaged areas in case of nuclear attack, radiation monitoring, decontamination, search and rescue, casualty collection, first aid, traffic and refugee control and police duties.

Island militiamen, commanded by Colonel L. W. Johnson of Victoria, will bivouac at Camp Chilliwack on the night of July 1.

ISLAND UNITS

Island units are Canadian Scottish Regiment units from Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Courtenay, Campbell River and Port Alberni, and 5 Independent Medium Battery, 5 Area Signal Squadron, 155 Company, RCASC, and 40 Technical Squadron, all of Victoria.

Oriana Returns

The 42,000-ton F & O-Orient liner Oriana, an increasingly familiar visitor to B.C. waters, will stop briefly off Victoria's waterfront shortly before 3 p.m. today to pick up pilot, customs and immigration officials. With 1,400 passengers from Australia and New Zealand aboard Oriana is due to berth in Vancouver by 9 p.m. Five hundred will disembark there.

Esquimalt will open its new municipal sports centre to the general public Saturday with a day-long program of free attractions ranging from balloons for youngsters who come early to dancing for young and old in the evening.

Official opening Thursday is restricted to 500 invited guests, including representatives of Greater Victoria and up-island municipalities.

Events mark the climax of a program which began in January, 1960, to provide all-year recreation for Esquimalt residents and those in surrounding areas as well. The centre has a standard-size ice surface and curling rink with six sheets of ice and includes off-street parking for 45 cars.

"We want everyone, young or old, to visit our new sports arena on Saturday," said Reeve

A. C. Wurtele. "This is something we're very proud of." Saturday's open house begins at 10 a.m. with a parade by the boys' pipe band from the Esquimalt branch of the Canadian Legion to the sports centre on Esquimalt Road. The band, directed by Fred Allnut, will later give a concert in the arena.

Reeve Wurtele will welcome visitors to the centre at 10:45 a.m. and there will be a brief address by Coun. James Bryant, chairman of the sports centre commission.

Beginning at 11 a.m. there will be exhibitions of square dancing and roller skating. From 10 to 6 Victoria Figure Skating Club will present a series of skating exhibitions in the curling rink.

Free dancing to Len Acres and his orchestra begins at 8 p.m.

At half hour intervals starting at 11 a.m. door prize draws will be made for 16 prizes including roller skates, ice skates, skating passes and hockey passes.

Clowns will give balloons to the first 1,000 youngsters to enter the building and every visitor will get a free souvenir program. Sports centre manager Joseph Iannarelli will emcee the day's events assisted by Bill Edgington.

Reeve Wurtele yesterday told how the successful sports centre project almost didn't get started.

He and Coun. Bryant had often discussed the need for ice and other sports facilities in Esquimalt, the Reeve said, but the unsuccessful Jaycee campaign for a second ice surface brought the full impact of the need to light.

"I felt it was a shame the Jaycees' campaign failed," said Reeve Wurtele. "At the start of 1960 I included a sports centre proposal in my inaugural address to council, but deleted it later."

"I thought the council and the people wouldn't go for the project. I was advised by Coun. Bryant, however, council would support the project and this made me change my mind again. It was a success from the start."

City Passes Up School Pay Talks

Most Vancouver Island school districts are expected to conduct joint salary negotiations with teachers next year — but Greater Victoria will not be part of the scheme.

W. C. Gelling, chairman of the local board, said last night the reason for remaining aloof was that Greater Victoria teachers, along with those in the Vancouver area, were on a separate metropolitan scale.

The chairman was commenting on reports that a zone plan had been worked out by trustees and teacher representatives meeting in Nanaimo.

Mr. Gelling said teachers and trustees both deserved credit for their efforts to find a more workable system of negotiating basic salaries.

He said all local board members "quite appreciate" the position of Greater Victoria teachers in not wishing to take part in the scheme. He added: "We regard their stand as quite reasonable."

The Nanaimo meeting agreed teachers and trustees from 11 Island districts could begin talks in September.

Greater Victoria Celebrations Association last night aimed its lance and set off at a gallop towards the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Association members angered by the fact the Jaycee exhibition is held about the same time in May as the Victoria Day festivities, voted unanimously to forward a protest brief to the Jaycees, city council and the three municipal councils in the area.

GRANT LOST

The brief, prepared by M. F. Hunter, a representative of the City Hall Employees' Association, claims the Jaycees should turn over a minimum annual grant of $3,600 from its exhibition proceeds to the GVCA.

It was claimed that with a carnival operating for the Jaycees for a whole week prior to the Victoria Day celebrations, the association has lost the $1,500 grant carnivals used to pay for being the first to show in Victoria each year.

ANNUAL RENT

Turning over to the Jaycees the association's privileged use of Memorial Arena on the Saturday night prior to the Victoria Day celebrations should be worth "not less than $100 a year," the brief said.

In lieu of paying rent to the city for use of the land by the curling rink, it would seem appropriate the Jaycees pay the celebrations association an annual rental value of $800, the brief stated.

The Jaycees should also pay the GVCA $1,200 annually for use of the Blanshard Street area in its annual exhibition, the brief said.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married almost a year and we have our little squabbles but nothing serious. Our biggest arguments are about his shaving.

George has very tough beard. He shaves every morning about 7.00 a.m. If we have plans for the evening his beard is very dark by 6.00 p.m. and he should shave again if he's going to look presentable.

He says he wouldn't shave twice in one day for the Queen of Sheba and begs me to please leave him alone. It is very embarrassing for me to go with a man who looks so ill-groomed and a few times I have even cried about it. This is the only cloud in an otherwise sunny marriage. Is it worth fighting about?—JONE.

Dear Jone: Your husband should agree to shave twice for very special occasions. It won't kill him. On the not-so-special occasions, let him use a little talcum powder to lighten the whiskers. It won't kill YOU.

And now—to all advertising account executives, public relations people, manufacturers and what have you. I will not mention the name of any blade, electric razor, lather, lotion, powder or cream in this column, so please don't send me literature or samples. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's mother lives a short distance from our home and she spends a great deal of time with us.

My father was a clergyman and we were brought up to believe prejudice was ungod-like and that people should be judged in terms of the worth as human beings. We were never permitted to call people of certain races by slang terms.

My mother-in-law uses these slang terms freely and our three-year-old daughter is picking them up. Some of these words go through me like a knife. I hate to sit silent and let our young daughter adopt these words as part of her vocabulary. Can you help me?—DILEMMA.

Dear Dilemma: Tell your mother-in-law privately that you would appreciate it if she would not use certain words in your child's presence. Be specific. If she ignores your request, correct her on the spot—gently but firmly. Simply say: "Mother, but we don't use that kind of language in our family."

Dear Ann Landers: I have been elected by four girls to write this letter. We are all 15 years of age and not employed. A certain girl in our crowd borrows dimes and quarters and "forgets" to pay us back. We are all from families that get along all right financially. Nobody is rich and nobody is poor, but we resent being suckers. She owes me

Sometimes no, sometimes yes! A cream with fancy price, fancy packaging, plus extravagant promises of a "miracle," is obviously over-rating itself. Choir Sings At Wedding Ceremony

At a ceremony performed by Canon J. Rogers in St. Columba Church on Saturday evening, Doreen Norma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Conrad, Helmcken Road, became the bride of Sub Lieut. Barry, Vincent Hagen, RCN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hagen, Saanich Road.

The dark-haired bride who walked to the altar with her father was preceded by the choir singing "The Lord is My Shepherd."

The bridal gown of classic ivory brocade was styled with accented neckline, lily point sleeves and bow at the front at the waistline with streamers falling to the hemline of the full floor length skirt. A tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones held her waist length veil and she carried pink roses, stephanotis and peonies.

For "something old" she had a rhinestone brooch which her grandmother, Mrs. G. Dunn, had worn at her own wedding 50 years ago and her pearls were a gift from the groom.

Mrs. S. Gibson, matron of honor, wore a dress of pale mauve chiffon over tulle and bridesmaids, Miss Judy Barton and Miss Joan Pym, were in deeper mauve chiffon over tulle. Miss Margaret Haines, junior bridesmaid, wore orchid chiffon over tulle. They all had pearls, gifts from the bride and carried pink feathered carnations and white gladioli. Head-dresses were white tulle and a pink carnation.

Sub Lieut. David Drew, RCN, was best man and ushers were Mr. Bill Williams and the bride's brother, Mr. Bert Conrad.

Fellow officers of the groom formed a naval guard of honor for the couple as they left the church.

Strawberry Vale Community Hall was decorated with pink and white streamers and bells for the reception. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake between vases of pink and white roses and pink tapers. CPO R. N. Knight proposed the toast.

The bride's going-away costume was a turquoise linen sheath dress, white top coat, pink and white accessories and pink rose corsage.

Increase Of Patients For VON

At a recent meeting of the Victoria Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses in the board room of Spencer House, nursing director, Miss Elizabeth Riddell, in reporting on the activities of the past month, stated that there were 66 new patients admitted and a total of 2,236 visits made. The number of hospital referrals is steadily increasing.

To plan the Public Health program for undergraduate student nurses, Miss Riddell attended the meeting with representatives of both local schools of nursing and the local public health agencies.

Mrs. F. Norris, first vice-president, gave a report on her recent visit to Vancouver as a delegate to the provincial VON annual meeting.

Mr. Mutch gave a report on the operation of VON care, and Mrs. G. Jones, president of the VON auxiliary, reported that the auxiliary had bought equipment for the staff and has agreed to pay the cost of having syringes autoclaved daily.

The Auxiliary will hold a sale, to be called the VON Marche, in October.

Pretty Summer Wedding In Cumberland Church

Cumberland United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Betty Ann, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hamilton of Cumberland, became the bride of Mr. Charles Richard Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Kuhn of Vernon, B.C. Rev. Murray Henderson officiated.

The groom, a 1958 graduate, received his BA in Pharmacy from University of British Columbia. The bride, who attended Victoria College, has been teaching in the Alberni Valley.

For her wedding, the bride chose a full-length model gown of silk organza over tulle. The portrait neckline was accented in front by a tiny bow, and the bodice featured lily point sleeves. The skirt folded gracefully from a low waistline to a slight train.

Her bouffant, shoulder-length veil of tulle cascaded from a dainty crystal tiara, and to complete her ensemble, she carried a small bouquet of baby's breath centred with white orchids.

Miss Marjorie Daubeny of Victoria was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Rose Hertel of Alberni and Miss Marlene Hofmann, Cumberland, cousin of the bride. They were gowned alike in mauve peau de soie, their bell skirted street-length dresses fashioned in a style similar to the bride's gown. They wore matching circlets of tulle and carried cascade bouquets of mauve and violet sweet peas with white streamers.

Tiny flower girl, Janet Kuhn, niece of the groom, wore a short mauve frock and carried a bouquet of sweet peas on a tone. In her hair was a mauve circlet.

Mr. Nelson Kuhn of Vernon was his brother's best man, and ushers were Mr. Gary Hamilton, brother of the bride, and Mr. Ken Kuhn, of Vernon, brother of the groom.

During the signing of the register, two of the bride's friends, Miss Grace Fraser and Miss Joan Williams, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love." The, were accompanied by Mrs. K. Williams.

The reception was held at the Elks' Home, Courtenay, where Mr. Leland Watson was master of ceremonies, and Mr. Henry Watson proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling, the bride wore an imported Chanel suit of pale blue with navy and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Berry Trade Tricks

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

With the strawberry season soon drawing to a close—except for the overbearing varieties—it is about time to do little planning for the future and to raise some young, vigorous plants from runners to replace the veterans which are "over the hill" and have seen their best cropping days.

If you were to do things according to the book, you would maintain special plants for the production of runners. These selected brood mares are not permitted to bear as much as a single berry and their whole energy is directed into their runners. These, in turn, are thinned out until the mamma strawberry plant is nourishing only two vigorous children.

Like so many other items in the book, this is a counsel of perfection and most of us make do with less exacting techniques. There are a few tricks of the trade we can borrow from the specialist, though, which will give us some good replacement plants without too much work or trouble.

First, it is bad business to keep chopping off all the runners until after the berry crop is harvested.

then takes what comes along late in the season. If we want vigor in next year's plants, retain a few of the earliest runners produced—partly because the early runners have more oomph to them and partly because we want our baby plants to get born early and to be well established by the time a new bed is made up in August.

Not being specialists, most of us take our runners from plants which are also bearing fruit. According to the book, this is supposed to be terribly exhausting to the plant, bearing fruit and runners at the same time, but to tell the truth, I have never noticed any ill effect and it seems to me that this is the way that wild strawberry plants must behave.

In any case, I think there is some advantage in selecting your replacement runners from fruiting plants, for this permits you to propagate only from the parents that bear the best fruit. How else can one judge a parent plant except by examining and tasting the fruit?

In selecting which plants are to be allowed to put out runners, it is a good idea to plan on about half as many again as you will be needing to plant up your new beds. It is always a good thing at planting time to have more plants on hand than you actually need, for you can be selective then, retaining only the best plants for your own bed, and palming off the second-rate runners as gifts to your unsuspecting neighbors.

In selecting mother plants, avoid like the plague any that look stunted or with curling or yellow-edged leaves. In fact, if any such plants are discovered in the fruiting beds, they should be pulled up and consigned to the garden bonfire. These could be a source of infection that could devastate your whole strawberry patch.

There is quite a bit of controversy in strawberry-growing circles as to whether the runners should be rooted into pots of rich, sandy soil sunk up to their rims in the ground or directly into the open ground itself without benefit of a pot. I look at it this way—if the soil in the strawberry patch is rich and fertile, as it should be, for strawberries are gross feeders, I think the young plantlets will make a better root system in the open ground rather than in the confines of a pot.

Stars' Dream House for Sale

By Sheilah Graham

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—The dream house of Natalie Wood and Robert J. Wagner is up for sale. It was Natalie who moved out, not Robert, when their marriage went up in smoke. She said the big, unfinished home was too depressing. Robert will stay there only until he finds another place to live. He seems to be suffering more than Natalie during their "trial separation."

William Holden plays a priest in his next movie for Leo McCarey, who seems to date on making movies on this subject... Move over, Yul Brynner. Robert Ryan is shaving several inches from his hairline to look more menacing in "Billy Budd."

Clint Walker has been having President Kennedy trouble—his back is acting up. That's what Clint says when he is unable to work in "Cheyenne." He looks very disgruntled again, whereas he should be kissing the "Cheyenne" ground he walks on—this TV series made him a star.

Vic Mature has retired—unless something irresistible in the way of money lures him from his Rancho Santa Fe existence with wife Joy. Victor has gone into business in the sleepy town near San Diego—he owns a fleet of taxis, and a restaurant with bar. Also a TV and Appliance shop in Los Angeles, plus accounts in just about every savings bank in the country.

Albert Finney, so good in "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning," is planning to do Hamlet and Cyrano de Bergerac on the London stage. Should be interesting. Finney reminds me a lot of Marlon Brando.

They say at 20th-Fox that they have a new star in young Gary Lockwood—you'll see him this fall in the "Follow the Sun."

From Carl Foreman, in Hollywood to launch his "Guns of Navarone" epic: "The picture took me three years to make, cost around $10,000,000. And we used practically the entire Greek navy, including 12 destroyers, and 3,000 Greek soldiers, plus the Greek Air Force. In the storm scenes, all the stars were injured. Gregory Peck hurt his head, Anthony Quinn his leg, David Niven and Anthony Quinn injured their backs, with David later getting pneumonia. And Jimmy Darren nearly drowned."

You'll never recognize Brigitte Bardot in her new movie, "A Very Private Love." Brigitte has reverted to her natural brunette locks, changing her completely.

Lone Soldier Netted 2,000

Canadian's Name Sought By French Village Cure

MONTREAL (UPI)—Paris Match, in an issue that went on sale in Canada yesterday, tells the story of an unknown Canadian soldier who single-handedly obtained the surrender of 2,000 German soldiers during the Normandy invasion of the Second World War.

The incident occurred in the little Norman village of Tournai-sur-Dive in the afternoon of Sunday, Aug. 20, 1944.

The village cure, Father Launay, is still seeking the name of the Canadian who captured the defeated remnants of the 7th German Army, according to the article.

The French magazine says that in August, 1944, the green Norman countryside was ablaze as the Allies beat the Germans into a corner, trapped in the ravine in which Tournai sat at the base. The Germans tried in vain to get out of the trap that the Canadian units had set up around the village. For hours the battle rage continued, while the 800 people in the village prayed for deliverance.

Match continues, "At 3 in the afternoon, the situation was unchanged. It was then that Father Launay tried to stop the combat. He succeeded in convincing the major who commanded the German unit of the absurdity of this desperate fight. A junior officer offered to accompany the cure to the Allied lines."

The story picks up with the cure's arrival at Canadian headquarters. The commander there delegated a soldier to accompany Father Launay back to Tournai to receive the German surrender.

Even though the soldier is anonymous, his act has not been forgotten by the people of the district. In the museum at Leigle, 16 miles from Tournai, a mural depicts the scene in the farmyard with Father Launay standing to the right of a soldier in Canadian uniform, his face turned away from the viewer.

Canadian Major Killed After Mass Roundup

KITCHENER (CP)—Veterans of the Highland Light Infantry of Canada said Tuesday the late Major Gordon Sim was "almost certainly" the Canadian who single-handedly took 2,000 German prisoners during a Second World War battle at the Falaise Gap.

The major, known as Susie to men of the Galt-Kitchener unit of the 9th Highland Infantry Brigade in Northwestern Europe, was killed soon after the Falaise battle near Rouyn.

The identity of the Canadian has been sought by the Cure of the French village of Tournai.

No Gold-Plated Axe Fulton Assures MP

OTTAWA (CP)—Having cut a ribbon opening the Willamette government about the gold-plated axe, Liberal Paul Martin yesterday set out to carve Justice Minister Fulton up over a double-bladed axe.

Will it be gold-plated, too? he asked in the Commons. If so, should the government not practice some economies in view of the long string of budget deficits?

Mr. Martin read a release which said Mr. Fulton, wearing a 10-gallon hat, will swing a double-bladed axe July 5 to

Mr. Martin recalled the gold-plated syringe plunged by Agriculture Minister Hamilton into a Peace River cow recently to mark victory in a long campaign against bovine tuberculosis.

There will be no gold-plating on the axe, said Mr. Fulton, adding: "My thoughts will be directed in a certain direction when I swing that axe and cut the ribbon."

Theft, Larceny, Arson —And He's Only Eight

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The arrest sheet reads "burglary, grand larceny and arson"—common words on most big city police blotters—but this record is owned by a boy eight years old.

"He is well on his way to the penitentiary unless someone can control him," said juvenile detective Hugh Prince. "His mother works, his father doesn't live with the family and the rest of his brothers have been raising themselves in the streets for years."

Prince would not identify the boy, a Negro. Officers found him early Sunday inside a drugstore. He was armed with an air rifle and had about $15 he allegedly had removed from a cash register.

The boy was picked up last June for selling newspapers which he had stolen.

Prince said the youngster was "talked into" stealing the papers by an older brother. "I guess that set him off because he's been at it ever since."

"As far as crime is concerned, he's very advanced for his age. He has learned a lot on the street."

The boy has been charged with grand larceny for stealing a bicycle; burglary for taking a pistol and a 22-calibre rifle, which he later sold; escape and arson.

He has escaped from the juvenile detention home four times in the past 12 months. The last time was Saturday. "What can you do with an eight-year-old like that?" Prince asked.

Mass Public Use Of Polio Pills Urged by Doctors

NEW YORK (UPI)—The duration than is the case with the drug council of the American Salk vaccine, and, in fact, the persistence of immunity may conceivably approach that induced by natural infection in type, degree and duration," the council found.

The council said the Sabin pills "present a unique opportunity" to eliminate poliomyelitis as a significant public health problem.

"The persistence of immunity induced by the oral vaccine may be of much longer

It also noted the new serum appeared to attack certain alimentary infections generally left untouched by the Salk vaccine, which has been in general use since 1955.

And it indicated that, while protected against paralytic polio himself, Salk users still could pass the disease on to others.

Shop Centre Opens

Chatterton Predicts

'It Will Be Hub of Victoria'

An almost incredible crush of people yesterday morning flocked to the opening of the Town and Country Shopping centre, just north of the city Saanich boundary.

At many stores people lined up outside the doors waiting to get in. At others, staff was stationed at the doors to let people in as others left.

The 800-capacity car parking area was filled early, with many cars parked between aisles and on the apron in front of the stores. A flat, earth area to the front of the shopping centre—being prepared for landscaping—was pressed into use.

And they didn't all come to look and sign up for free draws offered by merchants—customers lined up by the hundreds at cash registers.

Estimated attendance for the actual opening at 9:45 a.m. was 5,000 but officials happily predicted 100,000 persons would visit the shopping centre by closing time at 9 p.m.

Special auxiliary police were pressed into use to help control traffic and outgoing cars were routed north to avoid conflict with cars travelling south to the shopping centre.

Reeve George Chatterton, who officially opened the huge new shopping centre, confidently predicted the immediate area would see similar, intensive development within a few years.

"This centre is only the first step in a very large development," he said. "This area will become the hub of Saanich from Saanich Road to Swan Lake. It will become the hub of Victoria."

Happy businessmen involved in construction of the centre were amazed at the reaction and the attendance. They included Robert G. Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., which built the centre; his father, Charles Bentall, chairman of the Dominion Construction board, and Frank Martin and Chet Sinden of Frank A. Martin Agencies, who did the early spadework in development of the centre.

Also present was W. C. Mearns, B.C. Electric president, who owned six acres of the land on which the Town and Country centre was built. Original plan by Mr. Martin and Mr. Sinden was to promote construction of a supermarket on Mr. Mearns' land, but the potential of the area was realized and the projected supermarket ended up as a $1,000,000 shopping centre.

All stores in the centre will remain open until 9 p.m. each day this week. They plan to provide late shopping Thursdays and Fridays in future.

Children's Exhibition Seems the Best Ever

By INA D. D. LINTHOFF
This year's exhibition of the work of the children's classes, ranging in age from four to 18, seems to me to be the best showing we have ever had at the Gallery.

The children's imagination has been stimulated by three teachers, Mrs. Desiree Schotland, Mrs. Adele Fahey and Mrs. Nita Forrest.

This is highly important in teaching the young. They must be guided but should never be influenced too strongly by the teacher to produce work which is not of their age group.

The little ones of the four to seven group show the most inventive approach and symbolism plays an important part in many of their paintings.

It is only by degrees that a child begins to use the visual response. At first he wants to draw or paint what he knows to be there. He wants to show you all the sides of a house, perspective does not exist. He uses color as he feels it, not necessarily as he sees it.

Painting is something to be enjoyed for its own sake and don't they pile into it!

Some parents feel that a child must be taught to produce neat, carefully controlled work at an early age. But this is quite wrong. The creative years are generally those before the age of 12 when a child is a natural artist, possessing tremendous force and unlimited imaginative scope. This should be preserved as long as possible.

In the youngest group, paintings by Anne Johnson, Janice McDougall, Leslie Blumming, Bonnie Fahey and Cathie Neilson remain in my memory.

Then "Elephant" by Carell Grafton, "King Bird" by Charles Gaddes and "Peacock" by Mary McGrath bring up a reminiscent smile of pleasure.

There is beautiful color in "The Night Before Christmas" by Richard Sady, one of the eight-year-olds.

But I have omitted Julian Di Castri's "A Dark Rainy Day" and "A Very Windy Day." For a six-year-old this is astonishing painting.

In the older group there is some lovely work by Denis Lieutard, Tricia Dunn and Veronica Di Castri.

There is a large mural hung in the hall which is a fine achievement but I was not able to get the names of the young artists who had painted it.

I have mentioned only a few of the very fine paintings that are being shown at the Art Gallery just now, but that is not to say that they are the best or the only good ones. There were so many to look at and I wanted to admire them all.

Children's summer classes in handweaving and painting will start in the week of July 10 at the Art Gallery, 1040 Moss Street.

Handweaving classes instructed by Miss Florence Daniels will be held Monday and Thursday mornings for eight to 11-year-olds and Tuesday and Friday mornings for 12 to 16-year-olds. Fee is $10.

Painting will be taught by Mrs. Isabel McLaughlin for four to six-year-olds Tuesday mornings, Mrs. Desiree Schotland for seven to 10-year-olds Friday mornings and Mrs. Faith Slaney for 11 to 15-year-olds Wednesday mornings. Fee is $3.50.

Trujillo Aide Flushed From B.C. Hiding Place

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province says in a copyright story that Juan Abbes Garcia, former top aide of assassinated Dominican Republic dictator Rafael Trujillo, is hiding in a Vancouver hotel from anti-Trujillo gunmen.

The newspaper says Garcia is waiting for a message from a secretary to tell him whether it is safe for him to go to Tokyo as newly-appointed adviser to the Dominican Embassy there.

Province reporter E. Bennett Metcalfe said he and photographer Gordon Sedawie confronted Garcia and his two bodyguards in the lobby of the hotel where Garcia has been waiting under an assumed name for two weeks.

Metcalfe said Garcia nervously begged that the newspaper keep his whereabouts secret or give him two days to get out of town before publishing the story.

Garcia, former head of Trujillo's military intelligence service, arrived in Canada June 12.

Wild Ride Down Mountain Ends Trio's Night of Fear

Nanaimo Husband Disarms Abductor

NANAIMO—A wild ride to freedom down a lonely mountain road early yesterday ended two hours of terror for a 50-year-old school teacher, his wife and his son.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlay G. Dalzell and their 14-year-old son Bill were abducted from their home shortly after 11 p.m. Monday.

Two hours later, after escaping from their armed kidnapper, they rushed to safety in Nanaimo police station.

Ronald Graham, 47, a neighbor of the Dalzells, was arrested after an all-night search on nearby Black Jack Mountain and charged with abduction. A mental examination has been ordered.

No reason for the abduction was apparent. A man arrived at the Dalzell house and said he had killed a man. He was armed with a single-shot .22-calibre rifle and ordered the Dalzells to drive him to a nearby area.

Grabbed Gun

After they drove up the mountain the man ordered Mr. Dalzell out of the car. As he got out he grabbed the gun, ran 20 yards down the road and threw the weapon into the bushes.

He was able to escape from his abductor after a brief scuffle and jumped into the car, which Mrs. Dalzell had pointed down the mountain.

"Bill had locked all the doors except the back seat and that was open for Finlay to get in," Mrs. Dalzell said. "The car was moving when Finlay jumped in. . . .

"The man was pounding and kicking the car as I skidded it on the gravel and tore down the road."

"It was the fastest and roughest drive I ever had."

"My husband said 'I think it was too many TV programs which may have triggered the act,'" said Mrs. Dalzell in an interview later today.

"We had just gone to bed after listening to the 11 o'clock news on television when there was a knock on the back door."

'Just Killed Man'

"My husband got up and went to the door and asked who was there. She said a man walked in and said 'I have just killed a man. You are going to drive me to Pleasant Valley. Where's your wife, where's Bill?'"

She said the man rejected a suggestion that he allow Mr. Dalzell to do the driving and that the family remain home.

"He was carrying a .22-calibre single shot rifle. We got dressed and came into the kitchen. All three of us got into the front seat of our car. I was scared for my son. We drove him out along Jingle Pot Road to Wellington and then out the Pleasant Valley Road and up a lonely road to Black Jack Mountain. When we got there he said there was a side road and my husband was to turn the car around. "We back up the side road and turned the car around. "He said to Finlay 'I'll tie you and Bill up and your wife is going to drive me in the car.'"

She said Mr. Dalzell reached into the back seat and grabbed the rifle and rushed away from the car. The man went after him. Mr. Dalzell threw the gun into the bushes. There was a scuffle and Mr. Dalzell rushed back to the car where his wife had got behind the wheel.

'Electors Come First' Campbell to Strachan

COURTENAY—Comox Social Credit MLA Dan Campbell said today Opposition Leader Robert Strachan had no business objecting to the date of the Aug. 1 special session of the B.C. Legislature.

He said Strachan had wired Premier Bennett requesting a change of date to permit CCF MLA's to attend the national convention of the New Party beginning July 31.

"I can't understand the Opposition Leader's concern when he went to such extremes during the debate on Bill 42 to emphasize CCF members were not voicing the opinions of the New Party," Campbell said.

He said Strachan spent a good deal of the time in the last session saying the CCF identity, and not the New Party, would sit for the life of the parliament.

"He should make up his mind which party he's in. His first duty is to the electors who put him in office as a CCF member."

Campbell said the most important "convention" members of the legislature can attend is the meeting of their parliament.

Horseless Carriages On Display Tonight

Some 125 horseless carriages of pre-1915 vintage are scheduled to go on display tonight in the Empress Hotel parking lot.

The cars, most of them from the U.S. Pacific coast, will be taking part in the Horseless Carriage Club's 1961 international tour from Seattle to Victoria and Saanich Peninsula.

Police Commission Ready for Meeting

Victoria Police Commission, "as interested as anyone" in high standards of entry and training for police officers, will discuss the matter with commissioners of other municipalities.

At its regular meeting yesterday, the commission heard a letter from city council passing on a recommendation of the intermunicipal committee that police chiefs get together to set standards of entry and advancement.

At Mr. Hamilton's suggestion, a letter to city council will say the Victoria commission will study the question and invite other commissions to come to a meeting to discuss policy on police training and standards.

Watchman a 'Slight?'

Council Flays RCMP

DUNCAN—City council has taken a swipe at the RCMP for policing the city on wheels instead of on foot.

Aldermen would like to have the Mounties replaced by their own private police force but cost is the arresting factor.

Council is annoyed with the RCMP because:

- Policemen drive around in pairs.
- They don't enforce city bylaws.
- Council gave the RCMP secretarial help to relieve a constable but have seen no extra duty man.

WATCHMAN TOO

Beside having RCMP protection, the city employees peace officer and store-owners have hired a private night watchman.

Duncan minister Rev. Basil Hartley gave aldermen their cue to discuss police protection when he wrote to council about the night watchman.

Mr. Hartley wondered if the night watchman was a "slight" toward the RCMP or an indication of some short coming in their protection?

CONCERNED

The minister pointed out to aldermen that "policing must be done during the day and night. If I were a businessman, I would be quite concerned."

Mr. Hartley also criticized the Mounties for just making casual checks and not being around to act as "restraining" authority.

Mayor Jack Dobson admitted "we realize that policing can be improved, and the question is whether we can afford it under the present setup?"

CONTRACT SOON

"We should take another look at this police situation," suggested Ald. Hamish Mutter, adding that the police contract will be coming up for renewal shortly.

He said RCMP are weak when it comes to "looking after local bylaws."

Mayor Dobson agreed that "our great problem is enforcing city bylaws."

Ald. Mutter questioned why RCMP constables "go around in pairs? Is this town so bad? The flatfoot is needed in this town."

COST FACTOR

The mayor said he could not think of anything better to replace the RCMP which doesn't cost too much.

Ald. R. K. Cairns said unlike

'Flatfeet' Wanted

Job, "but we have not seen any improvement."

Council decided to ask the sergeant in charge of the Duncan detachment to meet with aldermen to "thrash" out the policing question and the recent complaints.

Recreation Program Sought for Colquitz

Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association is trying to revive a recreation program for the benefit of some 200 male patients at the Colquitz mental home.

A spokesman for the group said they are trying to encourage local sports groups to perform such spectator sports as cricket, baseball, soccer and football on the grounds of the mental home.

Mrs. Violet Hawkes, chairman of the Colquitz volunteer committee, said yesterday "we have made a start, thanks to the YMCA men's volleyball team."

But, she was anxious to arrange more sports events and band concerts for the patients, and asked interested groups to call her at EV 5-2589.

Firm Says Missile Can Snuff Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An electronics firm says it has successfully demonstrated the use of a guided missile to bomb brush fires with borate solution.

A spokesman said the missile can be mass produced for $300 each and are capable of carrying 1,000 pounds of the chemical to areas too inaccessible or dangerous for manned air tankers to bomb.

Oil Domain On the Alert

Kuwait Wins Allies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Kuwait sheikdom placed its British-supported army on the alert Tuesday against any invasion from Iraq and won another powerful ally in support of its independence.

The United Arab Republic announced in Cairo its opposition to any Iraqi attempt at annexation of the oil-rich domain at the head of the Persian Gulf.

OTHER SUPPORT

Britain and the U.S. went formally to the support of Kuwait Monday.

President Nasser's U.A.R. pledge is expected to swing most of the nine-nation Arab League to support of independence—and league membership—for Kuwait.

Kuwait called for an emergency session of the Arab League for today to discuss Iraq's threat.

MEETS TODAY

Sheikh Abdullah, ruler of Kuwait, was reported to have declared a state of emergency and mobilized his 3,000-man army, backed by an air force of 12 planes, along the Iraqi frontier.

British troops are still on hand. Plans for their immediate withdrawal after the sheikdom gained full independence last week were cancelled.

LA PUSH, Wash. (AP)—A civilian plane owned by El Paso Natural Gas Co., carrying five men, crashed in the Pacific Ocean off the Olympic Peninsula town Tuesday and the coast guard recovered three bodies.

Two of the dead were Ned Trimble, a reporter for the Kansas City Star, and Robert Adams of El Paso, Tex.

The other men were believed to be Ed Koterba, a writer for the Scripps-Howard newspapers; pilot John Cornwell and E. G. Hines of a Seattle advertising agency.

The agency had arranged the flight as a scenic tour of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. A witness said the plane, skimming the coastal waters in clear, sunny weather, struck powerlines near a resort community.

Ottawa Tax Deal Betrayal—Argue

NANAIMO (UPI)—CCF national leader Hazen Argue said last night the federal government's proposed tax deal with the provinces was "a surrender to the wealthiest provinces and a complete betrayal of the others."

Argue said the federal proposals "represent a backward step in federal-provincial fiscal relations that cannot lead anywhere but to bickering and difficulties."

GOOD POLICY

He defended the former tax rental agreements dating back to the Second World War. "This was a good policy during wartime and it is a good policy during peacetime."

The new proposals, he added, were "a double step backward toward the Canadian tax jungle of the 1930s."

CLOCK SET BACK

"And it might easily promote Canadian disunity by settling provinces against province, region against region."

The Rowell-Sirois commission recommendations have "now been abandoned by the federal government and the clock of progress set back exactly 20 years," Mr. Argue told a public meeting.

Minister Forecasts Trade with Japan

By PETER BRUTON

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan yesterday predicted B.C.'s mineral exports would be tripled to about $100,000,000 a year within the next three years.

At the same time he announced a number of Japanese business experts will arrive in this province shortly to study the possibilities of Japanese investment in mineral processing plants here and Japanese participation in mineral exploration and development.

Mr. Kiernan has just returned from a three-week tour of Japan during which time he discussed the possibilities of greater trade between Canada and Japan.

The minister appeared confident of increased business prospects.

Mr. Kiernan said B.C. at present exports about $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year in raw ore and mineral concentrates to Japan and that contracts covering $200,000,000 — some ranging back for seven years — are now in force.

"Most new mining operations in this province are predicated on Japanese contracts," he stated. "Other contracts are under negotiation now and these will probably lead to the opening up of new mining operations."

KENNETH KIERNAN
... experts due

Big Stumbling Block

The main purpose of his visit, he said, was to get to know Japanese businessmen a little better.

Mr. Kiernan found one of the biggest stumbling blocks was the feeling held by the Japanese that Canada discriminated against them as a nation.

He said he impressed upon the businessmen he met that any action on mining legislation taken by B.C. was not discrimination in any sense but simply action to safeguard adequate reserves of raw ore for B.C.'s own use.

Mr. Kiernan also warned that B.C. could not supply raw ore indefinitely.

"I said that as long as our reserves are considered adequate the mining for export of such things as iron and copper would not be restricted," said Mr. Kiernan.

In Vulnerable Position

The minister also added that B.C. was in an extremely vulnerable position if it kept to the role of a shipper only and said that the province wanted to see the development of mineral processing facilities here.

For this reason, said Mr. Kiernan, he proposed these suggestions:

● Japan should put money into the development and exploration of mineral resources in B.C. either by buying into B.C. companies or forming new ones.

This would guarantee Japan a virtually unlimited supply of the ore so badly needed.

● Japan should seriously

consider forming a joint company with B.C. operators to do at least part of the processing of raw ore in this country.

Despite higher labor costs here the cost of power is about half as much as in Japan.

Japanese businessmen agreed to investigate both suggestions immediately and said that as far as the manufacture of sponge iron using natural gas was concerned if it was feasible economically they would probably do so.

"Either we're going to deal with these people on a fair and friendly basis else we are not going to deal with them at all," said Mr. Kiernan.

Blast Sears Plant

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—

A worker stumbled and dropped a tank of propane gas at a Dallas ice cream warehouse yesterday, setting off two violent explosions which turned the worker into a human torch, injured four other persons and demolished the plant.

Damage to the Mister Softee Ice Cream Co. building was estimated at more than $80,000.

The force of the explosion hurled bricks as far as five blocks away. Walls of the two-story warehouse, located in an industrial section just south of downtown Dallas, were blown out and the roof collapsed. Seventeen trucks inside were heavily damaged.

The worker who dropped the propane tank, Willie Franklin, 46, was in extremely critical condition with second and third-degree burns over 50 per cent of his body.

West Pacific Swept By Killer Rainstorm

TOKYO (UPI)—A violent rainstorm moved northward across Japan and the Philippines today, leaving at least 175 persons dead or missing. Police reports listed 52 dead in Japan and 88 missing, with five confirmed dead and 30—all from the fishing boat ML Titania—missing in or near Luzon in the Philippines.

Some 350,000 acres of farmland were under water in Japan after a four-day downpour that totalled as much as 40 inches in central Honshu.

Floods swept through Luzon, causing heavy destruction as a result of a 12-hour deluge. More rain was forecast for Manila and nearby areas during the next two days.

Bones of Steel For Fragile Boy

CHICAGO (UPI)—An 18-month-old boy too fragile to hug was reported in "very good condition" yesterday after the first of a series of six operations to strengthen his brittle bones.

Doctors at Shriners Hospital for crippled children performed the rare operation on Peter Lollar of Little Rock, Ark. The little boy's bones are so fragile they have been fractured 30 times. They break at a cough, a jolt or even a caress.

To give the boy a chance at a normal life, doctors plan to bolster his frail bones with steel rods. The first of the rods was inserted into his left leg yesterday.

Hospital officials said the operation should strengthen Peter's leg and make it less prone to fracture. It is hoped that future operations will enable him to lead a more normal life.

Only Four Beaches on Blacklist

Health inspectors have looked at the bugs under microscopes and given their stamp of approval on swimming at all but four beaches in the Greater Victoria area.

Closed to swimmers again this year because of high bacterial counts are three beaches in Oak Bay and one in the city. They are Twin Beaches on the east side of Shoal Bay,

Victoria Golf Links from the foot of Newport, the mouth of Bowker Creek and the Clover Point area from Howe Street to St. Charles. George Park pool, being tested twice a month, has a low bacterial count and all nearby lakes and ocean beaches were reported as satisfactory. Most of the public swimming places will be tested regularly through the month of September.

Too Expensive

Hospital Idea Dropped For Old Men's Home

Tentative moves to have Victoria's Mountain View Home converted for use as a private hospital have been dropped and the home for aged men will continue in its present capacity, even though it is losing money.

City council's health committee decided yesterday to call immediately for tenders to rewire the old building. A sum of $5,000 was included in this year's budget to cover the cost.

IMPRACTICAL

Decision not to continue further with the idea of turning the home into a private hospital was made when city welfare officer William Hooson reported conversion would be impractical.

Mr. Hooson said requirements for private hospitals in the old building would include construction of a reinforced concrete floor for the second storey.

NOTHING ELSE

"I think the building will have to continue in its present purpose," he told the committee. "I don't think it can be converted to anything else."

He had been instructed to investigate possibility of conversion after he told the committee May 29 there was a shortage of private hospital beds in the city.

NOT AS SERIOUS

"There are two companies interested in building private hospitals here," he told the committee yesterday, "and now it doesn't look as serious as it did six weeks ago."

But, he continued, for the home to "break even" it must be run at full capacity, with 38 to 40 inmates. At present there are only 28 persons living in the home.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Ald. A. W. Toome, a member of the health committee, said the committee had no alternative but to continue the operation.

"It is council policy... and until we get another word there is nothing else we can do," he said. "This thing was thrashed out very thoroughly at budget time and the money was allotted. I feel it was allotted to be spent during this year."

Big Run Coming

City May Vote Oct. 21 On Big School Issue

Greater Victoria school board has set Oct. 21 as tentative voting date for the proposed multi-million-dollar school building bylaw. Board chairman W. C. Gelling said much planning remains to be done but the program "is beginning to shape up well."

Saturday's the Day

By IAN STREET

Esquimalt will open its new municipal sports centre to the general public Saturday with a day-long program of free attractions ranging from balloons for youngsters who come early to dancing for young and old in the evening.

Official opening Thursday is restricted to 500 invited guests, including representatives of Greater Victoria and up-island municipalities.

Events mark the climax of a program which began in January, 1960, to provide all-year recreation for Esquimalt residents and those in surrounding areas as well. The centre has a standard-size ice surface and curling rink with six sheets of ice and includes off-street parking for 45 cars. "We want everyone, young or old, to visit our new sports arena on Saturday," said Reeve

A. C. Wurtele. "This is something we're very proud of."

Saturday's open house begins at 10 a.m. with a parade by the boys' pipe band from the Esquimalt branch of the Canadian Legion to the sports centre on Esquimalt Road. The band, directed by Fred Allnut, will later give a concert in the arena.

Reeve Wurtele will welcome visitors to the centre at 10:45 a.m. and there will be a brief address by Coun. James Bryant, chairman of the sports centre commission.

Beginning at 11 a.m. there will be exhibitions of square dancing and roller skating. From 10 to 6 Victoria Figure Skating Club will present a series of skating exhibitions in the curling rink.

Free dancing to Len Acres and his orchestra begins at 8 p.m.

At half hour intervals starting at 11 a.m. door prize draws will be made for 16 prizes including roller skates, ice skates, skating passes and hockey passes.

Clowns will give balloons to the first 1,000 youngsters to enter the building and every visitor will get a free souvenir program. Sports centre manager Joseph Iannarelli will emcee the day's events as stated by Bill Edgington.

Reeve Wurtele yesterday told how the successful sports centre project almost didn't get started.

He and Coun. Bryant had often discussed the need for ice and other sports facilities in Esquimalt, the reeve said, but the unsuccessful Jaycee campaign for a second ice surface brought the full import of the need to light.

"I felt it was a shame the Jaycees' campaign failed," said Reeve Wurtele. "At the start of 1960 I included a sports centre proposal in my inaugural address to council, but deleted it later."

"I thought the council and the people wouldn't go for the project. I was advised by Coun. Bryant, however, council would support the project and this made me change my mind again. It was a success from the start."

$800,000 Water Bylaw

PORT ALBERNI—August 24 is the tentative date for a vote on an $800,000 waterworks improvement project for Port Alberni.

According to a committee report to council all preliminary details have been completed for submission of the bylaw, but it is proposed to defer voting until late in August when holidays will be over and residents will have returned to the city.

The project will involve improvement and addition to the existing supply mains, installation of a high-pressure main close to the eastern boundary of the city and construction of an additional reservoir.

Mayor Loran Jordan said that completion of the works will give Port Alberni a top-grade water supply sufficient for an estimated 30,000 population.

A certificate of self-liquidation has been issued by the inspector of municipalities and bonds will be guaranteed by the provincial government.

It is proposed to issue serial debentures over a period of 20 years. The report stated that while the government at the present time requires the bonds to carry an interest rate of 5½ per cent, the decrease in interest rates forecast in the recent federal budget may mean that a lower coupon rate can be obtained by the time the debentures are issued. It is expected that this will be around Nov. 30 of this year.

If the project is sanctioned by ratepayers, water rates, domestic, commercial and industrial, will be hiked by 75 per cent, council reported. The domestic rate would be increased to $3.50 per month, with discounts for a dvance payment.

COMOX—More than 200 RCAF reservists from Vancouver will arrive here Saturday to begin an intensive course of training for their role in Canada's civil defence plan.

"Operation Tryon" will dominate the regular training program of the reservists from 19 Wing, RCAF Active Reserve.

On arrival at Comox, aircraft from the wing's two flying squadrons will be dispatched in six different directions to unknown dispersal points.

There they will wait three days. Daily movements will be governed by sealed orders with each detachment commander. Radio communications will be maintained with the Comox base of the operation.

Medical personnel will practice decontamination, first aid and evacuation and treatment of stretcher cases. Aircrews and technicians will practice water landings and short strip landings, communications and aircraft maintenance.

When Operation Tryon is completed, the reservists will undergo survival training. The training is geared to teach them the use of basic survival rationals, supplemented by fish and game they are able to catch with equipment supplied in survival kits. Doctors and nurses accompanying the groups will keep a close check on the condition of all personnel.

PORT ALBERNI—A mother and her four-year-old daughter, injured in a highway accident near Cameron Lake Saturday, are reported in satisfactory condition by a West Coast General Hospital official.

Mrs. Kathleen Day, 515 Fifth Avenue South, is being treated for a broken leg and pelvis, while the child, Colleen, sustained a broken leg.

Mrs. Day's husband, Francis, was treated at the hospital and released.

Crab Trap Incident

Fishermen's Antics Irk Ferry Skipper

Two unidentified fishermen nearly lost their lives yesterday when they clung to the path of the ferry Mv Coho in the Inner Harbor and proceeded to pull up their crab trap.

The big ferry almost sliced into the small green boat about 1:30 p.m. off fishermen's wharf in the Inner Harbor.

FOULED LINE

Horrorized skipper of the Coho, Capt. Don Aldow, watched from the bridge as the unidentified pair fouled a buoy line on the prop of their boat and disappeared from view under the ferry's bow railing. His relief at seeing the boat still afloat, when it bobbed into view again in the Coho's wake, quickly turned to anger.

MADE PROTEST

After the Coho tied up at the Black Ball ferry dock, the skipper lodged a formal complaint with Capt. G. R. Newell, harbor master.

"It's illegal to set traps in shipping lanes," Capt. Newell said last night. He said a "close surveillance" will be kept on the harbor.

Militia Units Ready to Go

Some 500 Vancouver Island militiamen will leave Victoria at the weekend to join a force of 2,000 converging on Vernon for summer training.

More than 300 of the Island contingent will be from Victoria.

This year's Camp Vernon training population will be larger by 500 than the postwar record concentration of 1,500 in 1960.

OWAC MEMBERS

The total will include 160 members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps — 40 from the Island.

More than 40 regiments, units and detachments, representing two dozen B.C. communities, will carry out a four-phase training program emphasizing the national survival role of the militia in Canada.

RECONNAISSANCE

This will include reconnaissance of damaged areas in case of nuclear attack, radiation monitoring, decontamination, search and rescue, casualty collection, first aid, traffic and refugee control and police duties.

Island militiamen, commanded by Colonel L. W. Johnson of Victoria, will bivouac at Camp Chilliwack on the night of July 1.

ISLAND UNITS

Island units are Canadian Scottish Regiment units from Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Courtenay, Campbell River and Port Alberni, and 5 Independent Medium Battery, 5 Area Signal Squadron, 155 Company, RCASC, and 40 Technical Squadron, all of Victoria.

Oriana Returns

The 45,000-ton P & O-Orient liner Oriana, an increasingly familiar visitor to B.C. waters, will stop briefly off Victoria's waterfront shortly before 3 p.m. today to pick up pilot, customs and immigration officials. With 1,400 passengers from Australia and New Zealand aboard Oriana is due to berth in Vancouver by 9 p.m. Five hundred will disembark there.

Teachers' Salaries

Island Talks Urged

COURTENAY—School trustees reserved decision Monday on participation in a new scheme for joint negotiation of teachers' salaries on a Vancouver Island zone basis.

The plan was worked out at a meeting of representatives from Island school boards and teachers' associations in Nanaimo.

WATERED-DOWN

Trustee Ad Clement said the plan proposed by the teachers was a watered-down version of an idea originated some time ago by trustees.

He said it was an effort to head off suggestions of negotiating teachers' salaries on a province-wide basis. If the zone scheme proves successful, he felt it would be the last of the provincial idea.

According to a report of secretary-treasurer Chalmers

Peterson, the Nanaimo meeting agreed teachers and trustees from 14 districts could begin negotiations in September.

Mr. Peterson said teachers agreed with a counter-proposal from trustees that negotiating should cover only basic salaries and not fringe benefits.

ZONE PRINCIPLE

Results would be subject to ratification by individual districts and the zone principle would not apply to conciliation or arbitration.

There was no intention to write a master agreement for the zone, he said.

Mr. Peterson said negotiations on non-salary clauses would be handled by individual districts and run concurrently with zone salary talks from Sept. 8 to Oct. 15.

The zone negotiating group is to consist of five trustees, five teachers, one trustee consultant, one teacher consultant and joint chairmanship by a trustee and a teacher.

Of the 14 Island districts, Ucluelet-Tofino was not represented at the Nanaimo meeting and its position is not known. Victoria and Courtenay were the only districts not yet asked by teachers' associations to re-negotiate contracts for 1962.

NOT EXPECTED

Courtenay board chairman James Simon said a request from teachers here was not expected and participation of the district in the zone plan this year would serve no useful purpose.

First move toward joint action in negotiations started in 1960 when Island boards got together on a hold-the-line policy. Several arbitration proceedings resulted.

THE PLAY'S THE THING: Tactics of Premier Bennett in calling the special session of the B.C. legislature for the same time as the New Party's founding convention in Ottawa are not motivated solely by reasons of political vengeance, as some have charged.

The premier gets some pretty good advice about newspapering and knows full well that a sitting of the legislature here will take away the headlines from a political convention in Ottawa at the same time.

For that reason look for some government bombshells to be dropped when the special session gets under way.

Premier Bennett got the fright of his life from the OCP in the last provincial election and is worried about the New Party.

Wild Ride Down Mountain Ends Trio's Night of Fear

Nanaimo Husband Disarms Abductor

NANAIMO—A wild ride to freedom down a lonely mountain road early yesterday ended two hours of terror for a 50-year-old school teacher, his wife and his son.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlay G. Dalzell and their 14-year-old son Bill were abducted from their home shortly after 11 p.m. Monday.

Two hours later, after escaping from their armed kidnapper, they rushed to safety in Nanaimo police station.

Grabbed Gun

After they drove up the mountain the man ordered Mr. Dalzell out of the car. As he got out he grabbed the gun, ran 20 yards down the road and threw the weapon into the bushes.

He was able to escape from his abductor after a brief scuffle and jumped into the car, which Mrs. Dalzell had pointed down the mountain.

"Bill had locked all the doors except the back seat and that was open for Finlay to get in," Mrs. Dalzell said. "The car was Ronald Graham, 47, a neighbor of the Dalzells, was arrested after an all-night search on nearby Black Jack Mountain and charged with abduction. A mental examination has been ordered.

No reason for the abduction was apparent. A man arrived at the Dalzell house and said he had killed a man. He was armed with a single-shot .22-calibre rifle and ordered the Dalzells to drive him to a nearby area.

'Just Killed Man'

"My husband got up and went to the door and asked who was there. She said a man walked in and said 'I have just killed a man. You are going to drive me to Pleasant Valley. Where's your wife, where's Bill?'"

She said the man rejected a suggestion that he allow Mr. Dalzell to do the driving and that the family remain home.

"He was carrying a .22-calibre single shot rifle. We got dressed and came into the kitchen. All three of us got into the front seat of our car. I was scared for my son. We drove him out along Jingle Pot Road to Wellington and then out the Pleasant Valley Road and up a lonely road to Black Jack Mountain. When we got there he said there was a side road and my husband was to turn the car around. "We back up the side road and turned the car around. "He said to Finlay 'I'll tie you and Bill up and your wife is going to drive me in the car.'"

She said Mr. Dalzell reached into the back seat and grabbed the rifle and rushed away from the car. The man went after him. Mr. Dalzell threw the gun into the bushes. There was a scuffle and Mr. Dalzell rushed back to the car where his wife had got behind the wheel.

'Electors Come First' Campbell to Strachan

COURTENAY—Comex Social Credit MLA Dan Campbell said today Opposition Leader Robert Strachan had no business objecting to the date of the Aug. 1 special session of the B.C. Legislature.

He said Strachan had wired Premier Bennett requesting a change of date to permit CCF MLA's to attend the national convention of the New Party beginning July 31.

"I can't understand the Opposition Leader's concern when he went to such extremes during the debate on Bill 42 to emphasize CCF members were not voicing the opinions of the New Party," Campbell said.

He said Strachan spent a good deal of the time in the last session saying the CCF identity, and not the New Party, would sit for the life of the parliament.

"He should make up his mind which party he's in. His first duty is to the electors who put him in office as a CCF member."

Campbell said the most important "convention" members of the legislature can attend is the meeting of their parliament.

Sunday Sport Exemption Bid

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—A suggestion that areas which have approved a plebiscite on Sunday sports should be exempt under the Municipal Act from the provisions of the Lord's Day Act, will be placed before the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities. A resolution to this effect was approved last weekend by the North Central B.C. Association.

Watchman a 'Slight?'

Council Flays RCMP

DUNCAN—City council has taken a swipe at the RCMP for policing the city on wheels instead of on foot.

Aldermen would like to have the Mounties replaced by their own private police force but cost is the arresting factor.

Council is annoyed with the RCMP because:

- Policemen drive around in pairs.
- They don't enforce city bylaws.
- Council gave the RCMP secretarial help to relieve a constable but have seen no extra duty man.

WATCHMAN TOO

Beside having RCMP protection, the city employs a peace officer and store-owners have hired a private night watchman.

Duncan minister Rev. Basil Hartley gave aldermen their cue to discuss police protection when he wrote to council about the night watchman.

Mr. Hartley wondered if the night watchman was a "slight" toward the RCMP or an indication of some short comings in their protection?"

CONCERNED

The minister pointed out to aldermen that "policing must be done during the day and night. If I were a business-man, I would be quite concerned."

Mr. Hartley also criticized the Mounties for just making casual checks and not being around to act as "restraining" authority.

Mayor Jack Dobson admitted "we realize that policing can be improved, and the question is whether we can afford it under the present setup?"

CONTRACT SOON

"We should take another look at this police situation," suggested Ald. Hamish Mutter, adding that the police contract will be coming up for renewal shortly.

He said RCMP are weak when it comes to "looking after local bylaws."

Mayor Dobson agreed that "our great problem is enforcing city bylaws."

Ald. Mutter questioned why RCMP constables "go around in pairs? Is this town so bad? The flatfoot is needed in this town."

COST FACTOR

The mayor said he could not think of anything better to replace the RCMP which doesn't cost too much.

Ald. R. K. Cairns said unlike

Merchants Oppose Loading Time Curb

DUNCAN—With at least 100 hours. He suggested 24-hour zones.

tons of freight arriving here each day, truckers and business men want the proposed two-hour loading zone time increased.

City council has again considered the new traffic bylaw aimed at solving Duncan's downtown vehicular problem and terms of the draft bylaw include setting the loading zone periods from 9 to 11 a.m. daily.

The bylaw also calls for the banning of double parking and movement of trailer-trucks in downtown Duncan.

Businessman T. S. Elvins told aldermen that at his Craig Street store, 17 trucks arrive daily to make deliveries. Mr. Elvins maintained the trucks could not unload in two

B.C. FORECASTS ORE BOOM TO $100,000,000 EACH YEAR

Oil Domain On the Alert

Kuwait Wins Allies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Kuwait sheikdom placed its British-supported army on the alert Tuesday against any invasion from Iraq and won another powerful ally in support of its independence.

The United Arab Republic announced in Cairo its opposition to any Iraqi attempt at annexation of the oil-rich domain at the head of the Persian Gulf.

OTHER SUPPORT

Britain and the U.S. went formally to the support of Kuwait Monday.

President Nasser's U.A.R. pledge is expected to swing most of the nine-nation Arab League to support of independence—and league membership—for Kuwait.

Kuwait called for an emergency session of the Arab League for today to discuss Iraq's threat.

ARMY MOBILIZED

Sheikh Abdullah, ruler of Kuwait, was reported to have declared a state of emergency and mobilized his 3,000-man army, backed by an air force of 12 planes, along the Iraqi frontier.

British troops are still on hand. Plans for their immediate withdrawal after the sheikdom gained full independence last week were cancelled.

Four British frigates are in the Persian Gulf.

Scenic Air Tour Kills Five Fliers

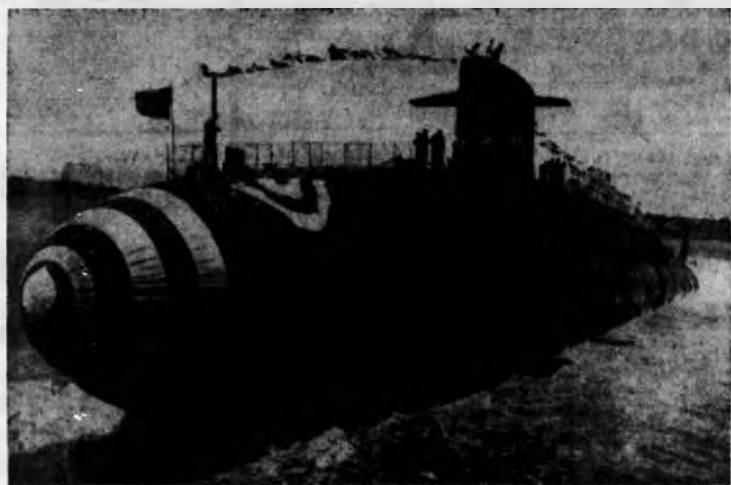

LA PUSH, Wash. (AP)—A civilian plane owned by El Paso Natural Gas Co., carrying five men, crashed in the Pacific Ocean off this Olympic Peninsula town Tuesday and the coast guard recovered three bodies.

Two of the dead were Ned Trimble, a reporter for the Kansas City Star, and Robert Adams of El Paso, Tex.

The other men were believed to be Ed Koterba, a writer for the Scripps-Howard newspapers; pilot John Cornwell and E. G. Hines of a Seattle advertising agency.

The agency had arranged the flight as a scenic tour of Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

A witness said the plane, skimming the coastal waters in clear, sunny weather, struck powerlines near a resort community.

Wilbur Nowak, 46, resort owner at La Push, said he saw the plane "hit the powerlines. It bounced up 200 feet, skimmed along about 75 feet high over the water. It was entirely out of control. "It finally nosed into the water, and for about 10 minutes all I could see was the tail. Then the plane disappeared."

Decision Today

Due to announce decision today on whether he will be a candidate for national leadership of New Party, Premier T. G. Douglas of Saskatchewan is expected to say yes. The 57-year-old premier faces only opponent at this time—national CCF leader Hazen Argue. Choice will be made in August.

Ottawa Tax Deal Betrayal—Argue

NANAIMO (UPI)—CCF national leader Hazen Argue said last night the federal government's proposed tax deal with the provinces was "a surrender to the wealthiest provinces and a complete betrayal of the others."

Argue said the federal proposals "represent a backward step in federal-provincial fiscal relations that cannot lead anywhere but to bickering and difficulties."

GOOD POLICY

He defended the former tax rental agreements dating back to the Second World War, saying "this was a good policy during wartime and it is a good policy during peacetime."

The new proposals, he added, were "a double step backward toward the Canadian tax jungle of the 1830s."

CLOCK SET BACK

"And it might easily promote Canadian disunity by setting province against province, region against region."

The Rowell-Sirois commission recommendations have "now been abandoned by the federal government and the clock of progress set back exactly 20 years," Mr. Argue told a public meeting.

Japan Trade May Triple

By PETER BRUTON

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan yesterday predicted B.C.'s mineral exports would be tripled to about $100,000,000 a year within the next three years.

At the same time he announced a number of Japanese business experts will arrive in this province shortly to study the possibilities of Japanese investment in mineral processing plants here and Japanese participation in mineral exploration and development.

Mr. Kiernan has just returned from a three-week tour of Japan during which time he discussed the possibilities of greater trade between Canada and Japan.

The minister appeared confident of increased business prospects.

Mr. Kiernan said B.C. at present exports about $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year in raw ore and mineral concentrates to Japan and that contracts covering $200,000,000—some ranging back for seven years—are now in force.

"Most new mining operations in this province are predicated on Japanese contracts," he stated. "Other contracts are under negotiation now and these will probably lead to the opening up of new mining operations."

Big Stumbling Block

The main purpose of his visit, he said, was to get to know Japanese businessmen a little better.

Mr. Kiernan found one of the biggest stumbling blocks was the feeling held by the Japanese that Canada discriminated against them as a nation.

He said he impressed upon the businessmen he met that any action on mining legislation taken by B.C. was not discrimination in any sense but simply action to safeguard adequate reserves of raw ore for B.C.'s own use.

Mr. Kiernan also warned that B.C. could not supply raw ore indefinitely.

"I said that as long as our reserves are considered adequate the mining for export of such things as iron and copper would not be restricted," said Mr. Kiernan.

In Vulnerable Position

The minister also added that B.C. was in an extremely vulnerable position if it kept to the role of a shipper only and said that the province wanted to see the development of mineral processing facilities here.

For this reason, said Mr. Kiernan, he proposed these suggestions:

● Japan should put money into the development and exploration of mineral resources in B.C. either by buying into B.C. companies or forming new ones.

This would guarantee Japan a virtually unlimited supply of the ore so badly needed.

● Japan should seriously

consider forming a joint company with B.C. operators to do at least part of the processing of raw ore in this country.

Despite higher labor costs here the cost of power is about half as much as in Japan.

Japanese businessmen agreed to investigate both suggestions immediately and said that as far as the manufacture of sponge iron using natural gas was concerned if it was feasible economically they would probably do so.

"Either we're going to deal with these people on a fair and friendly basis or we are not going to deal with them at all," said Mr. Kiernan.

Blast Sears Plant

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—A worker stumbled and dropped a tank of propane gas at a Dallas ice cream warehouse yesterday, setting off two violent explosions which turned the worker into a human torch, injured four other persons and demolished the plant.

Damage to the Mister Softee Ice Cream Co. building was estimated at more than $80,000.

WALLS BLOWN

The force of the explosions hurled bricks as far as five blocks away. Walls of the two-story warehouse, located in an industrial section just south of downtown Dallas, were blown out and the roof collapsed. Seventeen trucks inside were heavily damaged.

The worker who dropped the propane tank, Willie Franklin, 46, was in extremely critical condition with second and third-degree burns over 90 per cent of his body.

West Pacific Swept By Killer Rainstorm

TOKYO (UPI)—A violent rainstorm moved northward across Japan and the Philippines today, leaving at least 175 persons dead or missing. Police reports listed 52 dead in Japan and 88 missing, with five confirmed dead and 30—all from the fishing boat ML Titania—missing in or near Luzon in the Philippines.

12-HOUR DELUGE

Some 350,000 acres of farmland were under water in Japan after a four-day downpour that totalled as much as 40 inches in central Honshu. Floods swept through Luzon, causing heavy destruction as a result of a 12-hour deluge. More rain was forecast for Manila and nearby areas during the next two days.

Tractors 'Alive'

KEY WEST, Fla. At the same time it was announced that Cuban exiles were once again training troops in Florida.

Bones of Steel For Fragile Boy

CHICAGO (UPI)—An 18-month-old boy too fragile to hug was reported in "very good condition" yesterday after the first of a series of six operations to strengthen his brittle bones.

Doctors at Shriners Hospital for crippled children performed the rare operation on Peter Lollar of Little Rock, Ark. The little boy's bones are so fragile they have been fractured 30 times. They break at a cough, a jolt or even a carous.

Doctors said the six operations Peter will undergo would be the first of many. As he grows, the rods in his limbs will have to be replaced with longer ones.

Dog's Bark Costs $6 But Bites Add $1,400

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Her dog's bark cost singer Kitty Kaye $1,406.

While Miss Kaye was in the courtroom, she left her new mink stole and the poodle in the car outside. When she returned, the dog had chewed her $1,400 mink to shreds.

B.C. Fish Pact Illegal Says Liberal Senator

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Senator Arthur Roebuck said Tuesday an agreement between union and processors in the British Columbia fishing industry limits the herring fishery to "a privileged few." "It is my opinion that an agreement that has a term of that kind in it is illegal," the Ontario senator said. "It is not in the public interest and it should not be supported by this Parliament."

Senator Roebuck was speaking in Senate debate on an amendment to the Combines Investigation Act enabling B.C. cannery and fishermen to continue to negotiate minimum prices for the fish catch.

The measure exempts processors and union from prosecution on price-fixing charges as long as it is in effect—allowing price arrangements to be made.

Firm Says Missile Can Snuff Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An electronics firm says it has successfully demonstrated the use of a guided missile to bomb brush fires with borate solution.

A spokesman said the missiles can be mass produced for $300 each and are capable of carrying 1,000 pounds of the chemical to areas too inaccessible or dangerous for manned air tankers to bomb.

(B.C. officials says they are not considering adopting the missiles.)
